County vo-tech centers holding registration

Baltimore County's Vo-Tech centers will hold registration for fall semester adult classes Sept. 14 through 17 from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

Vocational programs designed to prepare individuals for employment or job advancement will be offered at Eastern, Southeastern and Western Vocational-Technical Centers.

Auto Mechanics programs are available for the beginner and advanced students interested in brake systems, advanced tune up procedures, emission control ssystems and automatic transmissions.

Diesel engine programs provide three levels of instruction from basic operation to advanced service and testing. New courses in Industrial Machinery Repair, Heat Pumps, Cosmetology Aide, Industrial Maintenance and Sheet Metal are also available.

A wide range of courses are scheduled in business, building trades, nursing and homemaking programs.

Registration fees are $12 for classes meeting two hours per week; $18 for classes meeting three hours per week and $24 for classes meeting four hours per week.

A materials fee payable at registration will be charged in most vocational classes to cover the cost of expendable supplies.

All classes meet for 12 weeks and are scheduled to begin the week of Sept. 21. For additional information, call the Office of Adult Education, Baltimore County, 494-4064.

Girls' gymnastics course set

Four sections of a noncredit gymnastics course for girls ages six years and older will be offered by Anne Arundel Community College's Division of Community and Extension Services and Evening Administration.

Entitled "Fundamentals of Gymnastics for Girls," this class is designed to develop the basic foundations of gymnastics with emphasis placed upon team spirit, development of competitive routines and integral parts of physical fitness.

Equipment used in this course includes uneven bars, balance beam, and vaulting horse.

All four sections of this course will meet at the college's main campus in Arnold. Section one, two and three will meet on MOndays, Wednesdays and Fridays each day from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. on the following dates:

Section one, Sept. 9 through Oct. 5; section two, Oct. 7 to Nov. 2; and section three, Nov. 4 through Dec. 2.

Section four will meet on Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays, each day from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m., Dec. 3-23. Registration fee for each course is $40.

For more information call 269-7325.

Late registration at Arundel College

Late registration for Anne Arundel Community College's 1981 fall semester will be held at the institution's main campus in Arnold Sept. 9 to 11 and 14.

Persons who missed the college's regular registration will also be able to register late at five of the institution's off-campus centers Sept. 9-11 and 14, each day between 5 p.m. and 8 p.m.

The off-campus centers are Ft. Meade Army Education Center, Glen Burnie Center, South River High School, Old Mill High School and Brooklyn Park High School.

Persons may register at these off-campus centers for only those courses at each center.

Late registration times at AACC's main campus will be as follows: Sept. 9-11 and 14 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and 5 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Persons who register late whether it is at the main campus or at the institution's off-campus centers will have to pay $10 late registration fee.

For more information on these dates contact the college's Admissions Office at 269-7246.

Driving tips for school opening

As the 1981 school year opens, the AAA Automobile Club of Maryland offers some tips for a safe school year.

MOTORISTS SHOULD:

Be on the lookout for children darting out from between parked cars. The majority of pedestrians killed in traffic violated a traffic law or committed an obviously unsafe act.

Remember that the first few weeks of school are especially hazardous, since many youngsters are either attending school for the first time or are going to a different school where they may be unfamiliar with area traffic patterns.

Observe reduced speed limits posted in many school zones.

Watch for children riding bicycles.

When stopped behind or in front of a school bus that has stopped to load or unload children, remain stopped until the children are safely across the street and the bus is moving again.

Maryland's right-turn-on-red law requires motorists to first yield to pedestrians, because children may be aware of their green light and are not watching for cars, motorists should check sidewalks before starting a right turn on red.

PARENTS SHOULD:

Review safe walking rules with their children and map out the safest walking route to school.

Help children get ready in plenty of time so they don't have to hurry and run, but can walk safely.

Drive children to school only when it's absolutely necessary, being certain to drop them off in the least congested area.

U of B has new economy class

The University of Baltimore College of Liberal Arts and School of Business are now offering an interdisciplinary Concentration in Political Economy.

Under the direction of UofB's Political Science and Economics Departments, the new concentration provides students with an opportunity for insight into the historical, philosophical and practical issues of economics.

Core courses present basic economic theory and emphasize the relationships between today's political and economic realities, while the electives allow the student to integrate courses from political science, sociology, economic geography and history.

The 15-credit concentration is not a departmental major but is selected in addition to the major as a complimentary course of study.

Although the concentration is primarily designed for those majoring in political science, sociology, history, applied statistics or general studies, the student may select any major in liberal arts or business. Additionally, courses are open to non-degree as well as degree-seeking students.

Further inquiries about the requirements or course offerings for the concentration in Political Economy may be directed to Dr. Bruce Parry of the UofB Economics Department, 659-3306.

Community calendar

Where to go, what to do, what to see

Zim Zemarel and his dixieland group, "The Clamback Seven," will be appearing Sunday, Sept. 6 at the new Baltimore Museum of Industry at 1415 Key Highway.

The musical entertainment is free and is part of the museum's gala Labor Day Weekend Celebration. The day's festivities will include a display of antique trucks and modern vehicles, food, films, working demonstrations and tours of the museum and its exhibits.

The Baltimore City Health Department's Family Stress Service, which operates the Family HELPline, now is located at the Health and Welfare Council of Central Maryland's Information and Referral Service.

The Family HELPline provides brief, supportive telephone counseling for families in stressful situations. It also makes referrals to appropriate community services.

For more information about the Family Stress Service, or to call the HELPline, dial 685-0525.

No municipal refuse collections will be made in Baltimore Monday, Sept. 7, Labor Day. The public is requested not to put refuse out for collection on Monday. Materials will be picked up on the next regularly scheduled collection day.

The Rosemont Community Doctors Center, 800 Braddish Ave., offers pre-school immunizations and well-child care to the West Baltimore community.

A primary care family health center, the Rosemont Doctors Center is affiliated with Lutheran Hospital.

For more information or to arrange for an appointment, call 945-4900.

Time is running out for approximately 900,000 veterans to use educational benefits of the GI Bill, now in its 37th year.

About one-fifth of the 4.3 million eligible veterans will lose their eligibility for benefits this year. The law permits a veteran to use the education benefits within 10 years following discharge from the service, or by Dec. 31, 1989, whichever is earlier.

A new program, which requires financial participation by service personnel, is available for those who entered the military after Dec. 31, 1976.

The following Pratt library branches will be closed during September and will reopen Oct. 1: Northwood branch, Loch Raven Blvd. and Cold Spring Lane; Light street branch, 1251 Light Street; Keyworth avenue center, 2610 Keyworth avenue.

The temporary discontinuation of service is the result of a plan through which the library is balancing the budget by closing each branch one month during the year.

The central library remains open throughout the year on its regular schedule, Monday through Thursday, 9 a.m. until 9p.m.; Friday and Saturday, 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.; and beginning Oct. 4, Sunday from 1 - 5 p.m.

The month of September will kick off a variety of classes and programs being offered this fall for children of all ages at area Young Women's Christian Association (YWCA) Centers.

All levels of swimming, arts and crafts, tumbling, gymnastics, and slimnastics will be offered at the Central, Baltimore, Harford and Northern Anne Arundel County Centers.

Ballet, tap and jazz, kindergym and much more will also be offered for children.

For more information about the children's programs call 685-1460. 685-1460.

The Dean family homecoming will be Monday, Sept. 7 at Patasco State park from 1 p.m. until.

The park is located at Rolling Road and Pancake Road. Pavillion No. 708 will be the site of the homecoming.

The class of 1932 (February and June) Douglass High School is preparing to celebrate its 50th class reunion in 1982.

Anyone who has not been contacted should call 466-6066 or 542-7566.

All members of the February and June Class of 1963, Dunbar Senior High call 532-7262 or 323-1567 about the 20th year reunion.

A Black International Festival will be at the University of Maryland Baltimore Campus Friday, Sept. 4, from noon until 4:30 p.m.

African Islamic Cultural Festival will be at 800 Madison Avenue in the heartland of Little Africa Saturday Sept. 5 and Sunday, Sept. 6, from 10 a.m. until 7 p.m.

The Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's Office is seeking a limited number of volunteers to be trained as consumer affairs specialists in its complaint handling unit.

Persons considering this type of position should have an interest in consumer problems, and be able to communicate effectively with consumers, business representatives and law enforcement agencies.

A minimum of 10 hours at least over a two-day period per week for a commitment of at least six months is an essential requirement.

If interested and for further information, please call Lorraine Bronstein at 659-4250; after Sept. 1, between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Arundel has newspaper class

Is newspaper advertising always truthful? What can you do if you're misquoted? These questions will be addressed in a new fall non-credit offering at Anne Arundel Community College.

Beginning Oct. 1, "Newspapers Inside and Out" will focus on the internal workings of the newspaper and will feature discussions with several leading journalists and publishers.

In addition to focusing on the history and internal workings of of the newspaper the course will give special emphasis to the "hows" and "whys" in the development of news articles and a comprehensive survey of the ways to approach a newspaper for impact.

Several well-known journalists and publishers will be featured in the discussions.

This course, which will be taught by Frank Bolling, newspaper editor and publisher and press secretary, will meet Thursdays, from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m., Oct. 1 through Dec. 10. Registration fee is $30.
