EO Officer hosts out-of-town guests

On Wednesday, August 26, Sandra 'Sandy' East, who is a Regional Equal Opportunity Officer for the U.S. Customs Service here in Baltimore, hosted a delightful buffet dinner for her out - of - town guests Ms. Ida Simms of Los Angeles, Cal. and Don Reid of San Francisco.

Ms. Simms and Reid were in the area for a Blacks in Government (BIG) Conference being held in Washington, D.C. that week and stopped over Baltimore way for a visit with Sandy, who, in a jiffy, whipped up the hospitality treat for them.

Buffet fare consisted of Shrimp Paella, barbecued meat balls, vegetable - fruit salad, assorted breads, munchies, wine and other delectable sippables.

Guests came and went from 7 p.m. until around midnight, chatting, joking, listening to music — just engaging in lively conviality. Sandy, as always, was the gracious and vivacious hostess.

Out to the party - hearty and to extend hospitality to her guests were: Barbara Jackson, Marguerite East, Nedra East, Nathalia and George Roberts, Linda and Charles Brown, Angie McClain, Jennifer Page, Calvin Woodland, Richy Maker, Sheri Woodland, Valerie Dean, Darcel and Billy Morris, Sandy Barnes, Doug Browning, Beverly Reid, Tim Wilson and Andrea and Sherman Abraham.

Travelers Return

Mrs. Belle Smith and Mrs. Elizabeth McCorkle have returned to Albemarle after an extensive vacation trip to the West coast.

They visited in the homes of Ms. Jorina, Alfred, Mickey and Tracy Snuggs in Long Beach and Los Angeles, Cal.

Alfred Snuggs took them on a tour of Hollywood, Beverly Hills and Albuquerque, New Mexico.

After leaving California they traveled to Seattle, Washington and toured the city. Included in their tour was, according to them, 'one of the most beautiful sites' — the campus of the University of Seattle, which is one of the largest schools in the United States. It houses more than 35,000 students and employs more than 5,000 people.

While in that area they also viewed Mount Saint Helens, Mount Rainer and other beautiful mountains.

Mrs. Smith and Mrs. McCorkle traveled additionally to New Orleans, Louisiana, Tuskegee, Ala., Atlanta, Ga., and Dallas, Texas, but arrived too late to catch sight of J. R., of the famous television program 'Dallas.'

Following their visits to many other points of interest, both expounded on all of the beautiful sights.

Mrs. Smith who remained in Albemarle and visited several days with friends, has now returned to her home in Baltimore.

Zetas sponsor Arena Playhouse performance

The Alpha Zeta Chapter of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority sponsored the Arena Players' Sunday evening (Sept. 13) performance of Karl Gipson's Kosmopolitan Troubadours in "Reflections of Carmen Jones" and "Bits of Broadway."

It was a smashingly successful evening with nearly 300 folks filling the Arena Players' Playhouse seats to catch the performance, which was highly entertaining and which showcased the thrillingly beautiful lyrical and dramatic talents of the Washington, D. C. group, several of whom hail originally from Baltimore.

Making his debut with the Troubadours was Joe Pearson, of Baltimore, who played boxer Husky Miller in 'Reflections'.

Dolores Jones (another Baltimorean) was superb, as was Joseph Eubanks in their "Scene at the Monastery", during which they did 'La Forza Del Destino' by Verdi, which drew them a standing ovation.

Prior to curtain time and during the intermission, Zeta sorors who served delicious wine and cheese to their guests out for the evening's performance were Ernestine McCloud, Ellen Johns, Benita Demby, Elise Collier, Linda Brown and Mary Fields.

Chairperson for the evening, who welcomed all following the intermission was Zeta soror Dr. E. Fran Johnson.

Red Cross employee fefed

Mrs. Lucy J. Bond, retiring employee of the Baltimore Regional Red Cross was honored at a retirement Tea hosted for her by co - workers in the Board Room of Red Cross recently.

Lucy, with 37 years of services was praised by co - workers and friends. Personnel Director James Pursley presented her with a Silver Bowl from the Staff Council.

The Chapter Manager, Jeffrey M. Varnes presented Lucy with a plaque for her contribution to the humanitarian work of the Red Cross.

In addition to the retirement Tea, there was a surprise Garden Party on August 14th given by her husband Carroll, at the home of her cousin's Asbury and Viola Rideout in Catonsville, Md.

Following grace by Wilhelmina Harris, a delicious dinner prepared by another cousin, Beulah Scott, was served.

Mrs. Scott baked a beautiful white cake with green and pink rosebuds and inscribed Congratulations Lucy Bond on your retirement; served with peach and vanilla ice cream. Games were played.

Remarks on the honoree's warmth, quiet manner and her kindness to co - workers were made by Rev. Porter W. Phillips, Pauline Jenkins, Josephine McClain, Viola Rideout, Asbury Rideout and Beulah Scott.

Those in attendance: George and Veldol Banks, Charles and Marjorie Bowers, Rosetta Cooper, Floyd and Wilhelmina Harris, Dan and Pauline Jenkins, Dallas and Mildred Hawkins, Dorothy E. Johnson, Charles and Dorothy Crawford, Anna Mae Lynch, Oearl and Phyllis Lee, Charlene and Lisa Hollingsworth, Cliff Oglesby and Akethia Williams.

Out of town guests included Josephine McClain, Mickey, Cherrie and Jimmy III, Buffalo, N. Y. AND Bikky and Joyce Haynie, New York City.

Throughout her career Lucy has found time to serve in other areas. She is the organist of Senior Choir of St. Matthews UM Church where the Rev. St. George Crosse is pastor and she has also served in other areas of the church.

A member of the Baltimore North District U.M. Women, she has served on the Eastern District Police Community Relations Council, Past Matron of Electa Chapter No. 1 Order of Eastern Star (PHA), Past Matron of Zerrubbabel Court No. 1 Heroines of Jericho, Iota Chapter Lambda Kappa Mu Sorority and El Strambolaww.

These organizations should keep Lucy busy for many years.

CAB CALLOWAY belts out a song during the recent grand opening of the White Marsh Shopping Center, White Marsh, Md. Cab, among other entertainers, sparked the Center's debut.

Parents solve After-School Care dilemma

A common problem faced by working parents of school - age children — adequate child care from school dismissal until the parent's return from work — has been successfully resolved by parents at the Roland Park Elementary School.

September 10, the first day of school, also marked the beginning of the second year of the Roland Park Elementary After School Program.

A year ago, Art Cohen, whose son was entering kindergarten, was concerned about the lack of adequate after - school care facilities. He conducted a school - wide survey that elicited responses from 84 families.

These responses not only validated the need for such a program but also identified potential enrollees, program activities and fees, as well as a group of interested parents willing to develop and organize such a program.

After two months of intensive planning, Art Cohen and these parents established an after - school program.

This year's program, under Kathy Cain's direction, will continue with the original recreation and enrichment class format.

The recreation program provides an opportunity for each child to pursue activities of his or her own interest or to participate in areas such as crafts, physical recreation and non - competitive games.

A mid - afternoon snack is provided. Enrichment classes, scheduled to begin October 5, will include art, dance, sports skills, tumbling, science and model building.

In addition to providing activities of interest to children, the after - school program is designed to accommodate working parents. It is held at the school from 2:30 until 6:00 p.m. on all regular school days. Cost of care is less than $1.25 per hour per child and does not rely on government funding.

The Program continues to be closely monitored by the Parents' Steering Committee, currently chaired by Kathy Boyd, a mother of two children enrolled in the program.

The committee's primary role is to assure effective operation of the program.

Marylanders attend Detroit Convention

By Marjorie R. Green

Marylanders attending the National Baptist Convention, USA, INC. in Detroit, Michigan were very proud of soloist Carrie Jones, member of New Metropolitan Baptist Church when she electrified the Cobo Hall Arena singing "The Lord is My Light."

A two hundred voice choir added the background to make it a memorable moment prior to Dr. Mary Ross' annual address.

Guests at Detroit mayor's manse

The highlight of our week in Detroit was our luncheon invitation to Manoogian Mansion, official residence of Mayor Coleman A. Young.

The luncheon was given in honor of Dr. Mary O. Ross, NBC Women's Auxiliary president and Detroit's favorite daughter.

The stately mansion has seven bedrooms, nine baths, two patios, an outdoor swimming pool and a basement recreation room.

A winding staircase leads to the second story from the tiled floor of the foyer. Overlooking the Detroit River it is surrounded by an English yew Hedge.

The grounds including gardens at two levels provide a panoramic view of the distant Canadian shores.

In addition to the tributes paid Dr. Ross by religious and political leaders of Michigan State and the National Baptist Convention, U.S.A., INC., the Rev. Jesse Jackson, Operation PUSH, extended a tribute in memory of former NAACP executive, Roy Wilkins.

Mrs. Betty L. Johnson, past Auxiliary president, United Baptist Missionary Convention of Maryland also represented Maryland at the luncheon.

Maryland Delegates

Leading the Maryland delegation in the Women's 80th Annual Session of the National Baptist gathering was Mrs. Bessie Mason, president of the Women's Auxiliary, UMBC of Maryland.

Among the Maryland delegation were: Mrs. Julia Bowman, Mrs. Bernita Paige, Minnie Washington, Mazie Campbell, Etatelle V. Jones, Enolliah Williams, Laura A. Clark, Viola Wright, Geraldine Chambers, Rosie S. Keene, Helen V. Benton, Margaret S. Willis,ns, Berma Jones, Maggie Greene, Inez Young, Sarah Gleming, Betty L. Johnson, Clementine Henson, Mary Harrington;

Also Inez Roberson, Mary Roane, Martha Chandler, Carolyn Alexander, Olivia Hargrove, Elizabeth Jones, Viola Rivers, Lina Toyer, Lustrina Coleman, Lustrina Coleman, Ethel Thornton, Grace Roberts, Ruby Purnell, Celeste Brown, Ines Hunt, Ida Lincoln, Emma Tillar;

Also Stella Jones, Lillian Cates, Inez Robinson, Earline Austin, Josephine Monroe, Dorothy Chambers, Minnie Crafton, Margaret Spence and Sarah Harper.

During this session where president Mary O. Ross celebrated her 20th year at the helm, Dr. Myra Taylor from Atlanta, Georgia, Editor of the National Baptist Woman and special assistant to president Ross, was elected to serve as first vice president, of the Womans Auxiliary.

Maryland Fellowship

Approximately 150 members of the Maryland delegation attended the Maryland luncheon held at the Detroit Renaissance Plaza Hotel on Thursday afternoon during the NBC week.

Highlighting the fun program was skit performed by the Rev. Mr and Mrs. Walter E Paige (Bernita).

Mrs. Virginia Brown and Mrs. Clementine Henson were program chairpersons.

Grand Family Reunion — 1981 Style

Mrs. Barbara Hicks' response to the welcome address was "And when the ones who couldn't attend ask how was the Grand Family Reunion, I'll just say child you should have been there."

On the last week - end of August more than 600 members of the families originating from Cherry Grove Baptist Church in Darlington, South Carolina celebrated our third grand family reunion in Baltimore, Md. Heretofore, the reunion was in the homeplace of Darlington.

On Saturday, August 29, the Northeast Baptist Church, 2301 Mayfield Avenue, where Rev. Dennis Barrow is pastor, hosted the family and it was there that the trumpets began to sound and we received an anointing welcome in the spirit which made our theme a reality: Togetherness with Love, Peace and Faith. Rev. Roosevelt Lunn, an associate minister and a family member, officiated in spiritual way which invoked the presence of the God that brought us "this far by faith" — The faith our foreparents instilled in us.

Among the family ministers who rendered a brief gospel greeting were: The Rev. Jacob Greene and Rev. Samuel Jones of New Haven, Conn. The Reverends John Lunn, Valerie Duckett, James Scott. Roosevelt Jones, Roosevelt Lunn and Timothy Lunn all from Baltimore and vicinity.

Other participants on Saturday's program were: Ms. Alice Williamson, who presented flowers to the older members of the family and to those who have worked faithfully for the past three years; also Ms. Wendy Webb from New York who sang with such passion and vibrato, and Miss Nannette Muldrow who sang duet with her father "May The Work I've Done Speak For Me."

The Norman Muldrow Male Chorus, directed by Herbert Muldrow, furnished the music in such a dynamic way on both days during the worship services.

The members were feasted in the dining room of the Northeast Baptist Church with a delectible meal of barbeque, barbequed chicken, spareribs with a wide variety of vegetables and trimmings that included hot dogs, potato salad, corn - on - the cob, hamburgers, baked beans and watermelon.

Ms. Angela Barnes, food coordinator, had a faithful committee to prepare the gourmet delights that were pleasing to every taste.

After the delicious feast, the youngsters and young at heart socialized together at a disco held at the Progressive Club, Calverton Street. Highlight of the disco was when the families formed a ring and danced to the tune of "We are Family." Anceable time was had by all in attendance.

On Sunday, the Grand family of Darlington and their descendants convened at Macesonia Baptist Church for Morning Worship. Mrs. Alethia Muldrow, wife of the director of the Norman Muldrow Male Chorus, was the organist - accompanist for the service.

The Rev. E. B. Burroughs pastor of Cherry Grove Baptist Church in Darlington delivered the morning message, "Sharing as a Family" - Acts 3:6 was his topic.

The Male Chorus and the Mixed Choir of Darlington under the direction of Preacher Muldrow rejoiced our hearts with songs that glorified God. The accompanist for the choirs was Keith Dabreau.

The Rev. Alvin Gwynn, associate minister of Macedonia, conducted the service in an inspiring manner. Participants on Sunday's services were Mrs. Rosemarie Scott, Deacon Colon Muldrow, Mrs. Bernice B. Lewis, Mrs. Joan Lewis Dudley, Mrs. Barbara Hicks and Mrs. Calperta Black.

Dinner was served at the Masonic Temple at Eutaw Place and Lanvale Street. Again Ms. Barnes and her committee outdid themselves with the delicious meal they prepared.

During the dramatic closing a circle was formed around the lower dining room as the visiting Rev. Burroughs prayed for increasing Togetherness with Love, Peace and Faith in the Lord and a safe journey for those returning to their respective homes.

"The Lord is my light, the contemporary version, was sung before and after the prayer. These lyrics are based on Psalm 27 which the family has adopted as mutually inspiring.

The largest group came from South Carolina via chartered bus and automobiles. But others came from as far south as Florida, as far north as Detroit, as far west as Indiana, and there were those from all of the states in this section of the United States.

A raffle was held in August to benefit the Cancer Society at New Mt. Zion, Glouchester, Va. and Cherry Grove Baptist in Darlington, S.C..

Awards were given the top workers for the benefit — Troy Lewis, Lucille and Willis Muldrow, Alice Williamson, Novella Burris, Naomi Marner, Mrs. Sylvia Butler was raffler chairperson.

The coordinators during each reunion have been Mrs. Naomi Marner, James Lunn and Troy Lewis.

Wanda Opher weds Maurice Trusty

NEW BRIDE is Mrs. Maurice Edward Trusty, wed recently at First Charity Baptist Church. She is the former Miss Wanda Yvette Opher, daughter of Ms. Juanita Opher.

Wanda Yvette Opher, 200 block N. Douglass Ct., daughter of Ms. Juanita Opher, was married recently to Maurice Edward Trusty, 1600 block Ashland Ave., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Trusty Jr. The double - ring ceremony took place at First Charity Baptist Church and was officiated by the Rev. Kearny.

The bride was given in marriage by her step-father Elmer Thompson. Maid of honor was Sandra Stansbury of McAleer Ct. Bridesmaids were Rosalyn Ash, Kathy Young, Yvonne Smith and Narcissus McClaus, all of Baltimore. Flower girl was Teonya Ashe.

Best man was Michael Lyles. Ushers were David Trusty, Phylip Trusty, Randy Washington and Anthony Trusty Jr., all of Baltimore. Ringbearer was Edward Trusty.

Decorations at the church were provided by Katie of Sonarte Florist and Marvin Murphy. Musical Programs Organist was Tony Allen.

The bride is a Dunbar High School graduate and former football queen. She also holds an AA Degree from the Community College of Baltimore.

The bridegroom, also a Dunbar High graduate, is a printer at Maryland Cup Company.

A reception was hosted for the couple at Dalby's on N. Chester St. following the wedding.

Among the guests were Dr. Nicholas Ongele, of Washington, D.C.; Mr. and Mrs. Fluz Boone, Dr. Phyllis Mayo, Ray Mitchell, Ms. Mary Hobbs, Ms. Bessie Crisp, all of Washington, D.C.; Mr. and Mrs. Chester Milstead (Pat) of Oxon Hill, Md. and Mrs. Lauretta Smith of Pisgah, Md.
