Granny notes

In this space last week, we were cut right off in the middle of our discussion about babysitting grandchildren.

What was left last week, we were cut right off in the middle of our discussion about babysitting grandchildren.

What was left out is the thrill grandparents get when 16 - month - old namesake is able to say, "Pop - Pop" and "Gran - Gran"

Those of us who have never been our own grandparents get a special thrill when grandchildren visit.

Try it — give the grands a day. You'll enjoy it more than they.

Honors for Van

We wrote these words in a notebook several weeks ago, but we're just getting around to transcribing them.

Annapolis Friends, held a lovely banquet recently in the Holiday Inn ballroom and honored Vandola King, their founder and president. She's the retired teacher. (Many knew her late husband, Douglas King, the longtime Bates High principal).

In addition to saluting Mrs. King as 'woman of the year,' and for her support and leadership in community endeavors, honor was went to other Annapolis area community workers.

Among them, Herbert S. Hilliard, retired Bates vice principal; Mrs. Agnes T. Abernathy, former Annapolis High music teacher;

Also, Mrs. Harriet A. Hull, NAACP volunteer; Cecil C. Burton, former teacher, guidance counselor, coach and realtor;

And, Ms. Sarah Makell - Randall, active on behalf of Elks, PRA and Mt. Moriah AME; George Phelps Jr. president of a law enforcement firm and Mrs. Margaret Bivins, for 31 years an area teacher.

Memorial service for Cecil John Guest

Memorial services for Cecil John Guest will be held Oct. 18 at New Unity Baptist Church, 3:30 p.m. 1645 Homestead St.

Guest died July 9. Born in Baltimore, Sept. 27, 1948 he was the son of Benjamin and Lillian Guest. He was a graduate of City College and attended Community College of Baltimore.

Guest was an active member of Unity Baptist Church and was a deacon for several years. He was formerly employed for Heat and Power Construction Company and also worked for Waverely Press. While attending school, Guest was employed at the Post Office and was a volunteer worker at the Baltimore Rescue Mission and and the Community Day Care Center.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Cynthia Guest and three children.
