MS. HORTENSE GOLDEN CANNADY, newly elected national president of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority will be the guest speaker at Founders Day.

Hazel Parks, the president of the Baltimore Alumnae Chapter, extends an exuberant invitation to the community to join in the seventy-first tribute to the founders of one of the nation's largest and most prestigious public service sororities. From its birth to the present, the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority is known to Black America as one of the major organizations providing the direction for black life, locally and nationally.

Twenty-two young women founded the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority in 1913, at Howard University. These noble young women envisioned an organization of college women pledged to serious endeavors and community service, de-emphasizing the social aspects of sorority life. The individual biography of each founder is a significant profile in courage. Striving to create a thrust among college women to achieve th highest and noblest aims in life, these twenty-two young women had the vision to lay the foundation for what would become a dynamic sisterhood, consisting of over 100,000 women nationwide.

Two Baltimoreans were prominent in this early movement: Vashti Turley Murphy and Meta Redden Young. Vashti Turley Murphy, one of the founders, stressed the need for education and high moral standards and touched the lives of many. She married Carl Murphy, editor of the Afro-American Newspapers. She served as a member of the Baltimore Branch of the National Association of College Women, Civic League and Y.W.C.A. She was the first president of the Baltimore Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta (Epsilon Sigma), which organized in 1922. Meta Redden Young served as secretary of Delta Sigma Theta (DST) Sorority in 1913. She was vice president in 1915.

The Baltimore Alumnae Chapter of DST boasts of national and local contributions. With over 900 members locally, the Baltimore Alumnae Chapter has given a command performance to improve educational, economic, housing and urban development, community and international involvement, and mental health. Aside from being the home of a National Founder, Baltimore has had three National Presidents: Thelma T. Daley, Gladys Byram Shepperd and Mae Wright Peck. Baltimore is the home of four past Eastern Regional Directors: Gladys Byram Shepperd, Muriel Johnson Jenkins, Christine James Moore and Chapelle Armstead. Ruth Jones Pratt, Thelma B. Cox, Ellen Fisher, Lucille Venture, Dorothy Coleman Lymas, Vivian Washington, Charlene Cooper Boston, Sara Smalley and Michele McCrae are among Baltimoreans who have earned the distinction of serving as national officers. The Baltimore Alumnae Chapter has a distinguished record of public service to the Baltimore Metropolitan community. For twenty-six years, the chapter has sponsored the Ebony Fashion Fair to raise funds for college tuition and support services for high school students who are desirous of a higher education, additionally; other annual programs sponsored include Honor's Day to recognize high school and junior high school students who attain high academic achievements, the Delta Teen Lift for the provision of ongoing cultural and educational experiences for teenagers, and a Charity Ball to provide funds for the Y.W.C.A., Mayor's Adopt-A-Family Project, the Baltimore City Fuel Fund, the Afro American Clean Block Campaign, the United Negro College Fund, the N.A.A.C.P., and Provident Hospital. The Baltimore Alumnae Chapter initiates and develops many community projects and programs and works cooperatively with other organizations and agencies. The focus of the Chapter program is congruent with that of the Grand Chapter which emphasizes the areas of: (1) Economic Development, (2) Educational Development, (3) Community and International Development, (4) Housing and Urban Development and (5) Mental Health.

MS. SARA SMALLEY, co-chairperson 1984 Delta Founders' Day.

On January 29, 1984, the Baltimore Alumnae Chapter members and their guests will reflect on the events of the past as they have affected our lives both individually and collectively. These events have dictated compeling reasons for challenging and responding to challenges of change. The theme has been selected to gain new insights and set a new determination to work on the "how" to achieve a better world of peace, economic, social and educational justice and equality.
