editor of his "heart as big as the ocean."

The deceased's daughter, Prof. Ann Felton, Syracuse, N.Y., spoke for the family. She recited her dad's favorite sayings and remembered him as "a Christian man, loving father, concerned and caring grandfather, uncle, cousin, friend..."

The Enon choir sang. Mrs. Katie Grove was at the organ. Soles were by Mrs. Ann Carter of Garrison Blvd. Methodist Church, and Mr. Gardner's niece, Mrs. Pauline Fox of D.C.

The official church resolution was read by Mrs. Vivian Bennett, church clerk.

Fellowship

Mr. Gardner, 74, was a retired postal employee, member of the board of directors of the Baltimore NAACP, where he served for 30 years, an NAACP life member and volunteer with the Police Boys' Club.

He was known as the "Mayor on the Hill," the title given him by neighbors in the Hoe's Height Neighborhood Association. He was credited with initiating improvements in the Dewey Ave. area where he lived.

Following the formal service, his widow of 52 years, Mrs. Lucinda Bright Gardner, and other family members hosted a fellowship dinner in the church center.

There, some 200 family members and friends gathered for dinner and an old fashioned family reunion. Dinner was catered by Mrs. Lillian Wiggins, an Enon member.

Looking out over the crowd at the dinner, one could sense it was what Herb Gardner would have enjoyed—friends chatting, laughing and reminiscing. It was a grand afternoon.

Cuff note: It was like Herb Gardner to will his body to science. He was that kind of unselfish guy.

Other kin present, included brother, Dr. Thomas J. Gardner of N.Y., who retired last month as City College of N.Y. business prof; sister, Mrs. Florence Ringgold, retired Baltimore City teacher; son-in-law, Macee N. Felton, and grandchildren, Joy and Travis Felton, all of Syracuse.

Old-home-week note: In the crowd, Marguerite Ennis Spriggs, whose family resided on Dewey Ave. and whom we first met in high school. In those days many of us Douglass High students travelled to visit the Ennis girls who lived in what we thought was the suburbs, and we called it Section Roland Park. Remember?

munity's response has been overwhelming," says Dr. Webb "in us, this is clear evidence that we are on the right track, meeting a real need."

TUTORIAL PROJECT

Just getting off the ground, is a Tutorial Project. The Center has 10 volunteer tutors, and would welcome more to take care of the large influx of tutees that is expected once word of the activity gets out.

"There are 10 tutees in the program already, and we haven't even started publicizing," says Bettie Flack, Tutorial Project Coordinator.

Constant Care's Alcoholism Treatment Program, only 4 months old has over 50 regular participants. The Center is planning to add a counseling program for spouses, children and "significant others" in the alcoholic's life.

Constant Care's weekly prenatal education classes have paid outstanding dividends especially with younger mothers. Constant Care is located in a census tract known nationally for its high infant mortality rate. Yet for Constant Care newborns, the mortality rate is zero.

Despite its many successes, however, Constant Care sees many other ways it could serve its patients if funds were available.

Currently, the Center is looking for corporate contributions to partially fund a separate Adolescent Health Care Center.

"We invision a 'home away from home' for teenagers," says Dr. Webb. "We'll have a study hall with computers and we could expand our tutorial project. We will have games, a television set, easy chairs, maybe a pool table, and other recreational activities.

"There will be individual and group counseling, rap sessions, and classes on grooming, sexuality and physical fitness . . . and, incidentally, we will have health care too.

"We've done this before and it works. Young people respond best to health care in an environment of their own."

OTHER PROJECTS

Other projects in Constant Care's five year development plan are new satellites — one at Mondawmin Shopping Center and one in the Beaver Heights area of Prince George's County. Both of these satellites will be opening within the month.

Constant Care also has plans to open joint daycare centers, one for children and one for senior citizens. "This area really needs more daycare centers," says Dr. Webb, "and sooner or later, it will be a reality. Substantial financial support will make it sooner."

Dr. Webb's big priority at this time is to raise the visibility of Constant Care and thereby increase the contributions to its program.

"The more money we have, the more we can do for our patients" says Dr. Webb.

Constant Care Medical Center is celebrating Black History Month by making a little Black History itself.

"Our programs for the Black family put us right on the cutting edge of the new advances in health care delivery. And that's where we should be," says Dr. Webb emphatically.

Two Md. U. cagers suspended

COLLEGE PARK, MD (UPI) — Maryland basketball players Adrian Branch and Steve Rivers, facing marijuana charges following their weekend arrest, have been "indefinitely suspended" by Coach Lefty Driesell.

Branch, 20, and Rivers, 21, were arrested near the university Saturday night with Minnie Coakley, 23, a female companion, Bob Law, a Prince George's County police spokesman, said Monday.

Branch, a 6 - foot - 8 junior from Donatha High School in Hyattsville, Md., and Rivers, a 6 - 3 senior from Lutheran High School in New York, met with Driesell and other university officials for nearly three hours Monday.

The arrests came a few hours after the Terrapins, ranked ninth in this week's UPI board of coaches poll, returned from Saturday afternoon's 52-47 loss at Notre Dame.

Law said a car driven by Branch was spotted by an undercover officer Saturday night in an area known to police for drug transactions. A man approached the car and an exchange was made.

The car was later stopped, and "officers observed a passenger attempt to conceal an object under the front seat," Law said. "The three occupants of the car were asked to get out of the car and officers recovered two small packets from under the right front seat."
