Famous pieces such as "Silk Stockings," "Li'l Darlin'," "Corner Pocket" and, "Bootle's Blues," the familiar Basie-Eaton duet, will 'always be among the favorites.

The Count's successor on piano, Tee Carson, duplicates the master's spare, subtle style, that has become a trademark over the years, not only with uncanny exactness but also with love and respect. The pattern is still familiar. The explosion of constant. The exuberance of the big-band sound. Musicianship
