OBITUARIES

Cornelius L. Carroll, educator

Memorial services for Cornelius Leroy Carroll, a retired school administrator, were held Thursday, June 16 at 10 a.m. at St. James Episcopal Church, Arlington and Lafayette Avenues.

Mr. Carroll, who was 71, died Wednesday at North Arundel Hospital, following a long illness.

Born in Baltimore, Mr. Carroll was educated in the public schools here. He graduated from Douglass High School and then earned his B.S. degree from Morgan State College, in 1938.

In 1940, he married the former Marian Olivia Whitlock, of Washington, D.C. Mr. Carroll began his career as a junior high school history teacher in the Baltimore Public Schools. In years that followed, he served as chairman of the history departments at Harvey Johnson Junior High School, Charles H. Houston Junior High School, and William M. Lemmel Junior High School.

In addition to serving as a writer of social studies courses for grades 7 to 9 on central office committees, he was a critic teacher. He also taught review and accelerated courses.

Mr. Carroll was involved for 25 years in the Adult Education Program of Baltimore City, helping to develop an Adult Evening High School progam at Dunbar High School. He was principal of that evening school for several years.

In the late 60's, Mr. Carroll served as a unit head at Calvert Junior High School. From there, he was assigned to serve as vice-principal at Polytechnic Institute. Two years later, he returned to Calverton as its principal, a position he held until his retirement in 1975.

After retirement, he devoted his efforts to volunteer work with the Banneker - Douglass Museum Foundation, Inc., in Annapolis, MD. He continued working with the museum until health problems limited his activities.

Mr. Carroll was a member of St. James Episcopal Church, where he served as an acolyte and Sunday School teacher.

He was also a member of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity.

Mr. Carroll is survived by his wife, Marian Olivia (nee Whitlock); two sons, Leroy Whitlock and James Warren Carroll; three grandchildren, Rochelle, Lauren, and James Carroll; three sisters-in-law; one brother-in-law; and other relatives and friends.

Dr. Maurice L. Adams

Dr. Adams mourned

Dr. Maurice L. Adams, a practicing physician in Baltimore for over 40 years, was remembered as a "dignified, caring person whose willingness to listen to his patients' troubles often helped them as much as medicine."

The tribute came during funeral services on Tuesday afternoon at Union Baptist Church, where Dr. Adams was twice named "Man of the Year" and where he served as church physician for 40 years.

Dr. Adams suffered a massive heart attack on June 3. Union pastor, Rev. Vernon Dobson, said of him "he was a good man whose steps were ordered by the Lord.

He recalled that for many years Dr. Adams, N. Carey St. office was crowded with patients and that he delivered babies and provided services for which he was never paid. "Some doctors today are in the business of making money, but people like Dr. Adams never knew when they'd get the money."

There was similar testimony to his generosity and service to church and community resolutions acknowledged by Dr. Richard I. McKinney, who added, "he always stood for good . . . no one every said an unkind word about him."

Rev. Marion C. Bascom, Douglass Memorial, offered prayer. Associate pastor, Dr. Lorenzo Handy presided. The 35-voice senior choir sang, and was directed by Ms. Janice Forest, Dr. Augustus Adair, soloist.

Active pallbearers were members of Prince Hall Trinity Lodge No. 75, which held fraternal services on Sunday evening at Russ Funeral Home.

Members of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity conducted special rites on Monday morning and served as honorary pallbearers. Dr. Adams was a 66-year member of the fraternity and was installed in the Hall of Fame last year.

A native of Covington, Va., D. Adams was the son of Charles and Anna Adams. He was educated in the town's elementary schools, earned his high school diploma at Hampton Institute.

After graduation from W. Va. State College, he earned his medical degree at Meharry School in 1933, and did his internship at Baltimore's Provident Hospital.

He began his career as a family physician with offices in his home on E. 23rd St., later settling at 238 N. Carey St. in west Baltimore, where he practiced from 1934 until 1975.

He was a member of the National Medical Association, American Academy of Family Practice, Maryland State Medical Society, Monumental Medical Society, Medical Staff of Provident Hospital, Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Sigma Pi Phi Fraternity, Gamma Boule, The Urban League, N.A.A.C.P. (life member), Masonic Order of Prince Hall Masons, West Virginia State College Alumni Association (of which he was first to sign the charter for a local chapter).

Among other honors bestowed on him: the President's Award . . . Meharry Medical College . . . for fifty years of service; Man of the Year Award . . . Union Baptist Church (in 1967 and 1979); West Virginia State College Alumni Award for Humanitarian Service; and a Service Award from Provident Hospital.

Survivors: His wife of 43 years, the former Catherine Williams, retired city school guidance counselor; daughters, Dr. Anne V. Adams, Baltimore, an associate professor of nutrition at Hopkins; and Dr. Shiriki (Nina) Kumanyika-Morssink, Cornell University professor on leave at U. of Beirut; grandson Chenjeral Kumanyika, a student at Poly; a sister, Mrs. Anna J. Rondall. — By BETTYE MOSS.

God saw the road was getting rough.
The hills were hard to climb;

Has found sweet rest at last.
