BEN GORDON, JR.:

2110 restaurant owner shot

When the police responded to a shooting incident just before midnight Saturday in the 2100 block of North Charles, they saw Benjamin Gordon, 25, of the same block lying face down inside his restaurant, 2110.

Gordon had gunshot wounds to the upper shoulder. He was transported to the University Hospital where he was listed in critical condition.

Gordon told the police he was shot by "Darnell and Dulaney."

Mark Sterling, a witness told the police that he was in the restaurant, when he heard about five gunshots outside. When he went outside, he saw someone running north on N. Charles Street, with a gun in his hand.

According to the police report, the trunk of Gordon's car, a Volvo, was open with an apparent bullet hole and two other dents that appeared to be made by bullets.

One spent bullet was recovered inside the trunk by police.

The police said that apparently Gordon was shot outside his Volvo and ran inside where he fell to the floor face down.

Further investigation revealed that Gordon had an argument with Darnell, the boyfriend of Gina Powell, Gordon's ex-girlfriend at the Shake and Bake Center, in the 1600 blockof Pennsylvania Avenue about one week ago.

Police were not able to reach Powell's brother, Troy, who works at the restaurant, as he was not available during the investigation.

The police however, said that warrants will be obtained upon identification of the suspects, who are known as Darnell and Dulaney.

Sources say Gordon is recuperating steadily and should be taken out of the intensive care unit today and placed in a regular hospital room.

Gordon is the son of Dr. Benjamin J. Gordon, Sr., a retired dentist who financed his son in business.

A graduate of the Maryland Culinary School for the Arts, Benjamin's first love is cooking. He prides himself and his restaurant on having fresh French cuisine, meticulously prepared on the premises.

In his free time, Gordon enjoys basketball, rollerskating, and taking care of his car.

He lives above his restaurant where he spends the bulk of his time. Benjamin is engaged to a model named Desiree Shelton.

Carl Rowan gets support from NBA

By Robyn-Denise Yourse
AFRO Assistant Editor

WASHINGTON — National Bar Association president William L. Sutton, Jr. has criticized the city's decision to bring charges against noted black journalist Carl T. Rowan for shooting a white teenager from an affluent suburb after he broke into his home for an un-authorized dip in the swimming pool.

"I find the situation very troubling," Sutton said. "There appears to have been an unlawful intrusion onto the property of a public black figure, yet no steps have been taken to prosecute the perpetrators."

Last week, federal prosecutors arraigned Rowan for carrying the un-registered 22 caliber pistol that was used to shoot 16 year old Ben Smith.

Smith received a gunshot wound to the wrist, and was ordered to perform 40 hours of community service along with the three other teens who scaled Rowan's fence at 2 a.m. June 14.

Rowan, however, would face a one year jail sentence or $1,000 fine if convicted for violating the city's stringent gun control laws.

Rowan said he discovered the quartet as they frolicked in the pool while consuming beer and marijuana. He said, he warned the intruders that he had a gun, but maintains Smith "lounged forward as if he were going to grab me."

"I acted in self-defense," Rowan said. "I have no regrets."

Following the incident, Rowan — who is known as a liberal columnist — became the target of attacks by gun association heads and was labeled a hypocrite. Scores of posters portraying him as "Rambo" Rowan sprang up at last week's court

AFRAM a success!

THE EYE OF YOUTH—City kids watch in wonder and excitement as the AFRAM parade passes by featuring culturally decorated floates carting everything from Baltimore's black beauties and school marching bands to Mayor Kurt L. Schmoke and his family. This year's AFRAM celebration was the largest ever with an estimated turn-out of 50 to 70 thousand.

Sigma house burned down: investigators suspect arson

OXFORD, Miss. — Arson investigators searched for clues Friday in a fire that gutted an antebellum-style house being renovated to integrate the University of Mississippi's all-white Fraternity Row.

A university foundation and the state fire marshal's office offered rewards totaling $6,000 for information leading to the arrest of those responsible for torching the structure, the second home the black Phi Beta Sigma fraternity has lost in the past 18 months.

The group's house in downtown Oxford was down to make way for street construction.

Members of the fraternity, looking sadly at what was left of the 40- to 50-year old house that burned down Thursday, vowed to continue their quest for a presence on Fraternity Row.

"I keep coming by here because I don't believe it," said Phi Beta Sigma member Robert McDonald. "The hurting thing is not the burning of this structure but the fact we can't be together right now.

"It's always been a goal for us to have a fraternity house," said McDonald, who graduates Saturday. "It might be 300 years but we will have a house. We've been working for it and we've seen a lot of positive things here at the University of Mississippi. We're going to continue to be positive."

Deputy state fire marshals Charlie Burns and Mike Ivey, in a statement released by the university, said they "strongly suspect some sort of accelerant in a closet on the second floor, where the blaze began" about 3:30 a.m. Thursday.

Evidence from the charred ruins was sent to the state Crime Laboratory in Jackson to be analyzed. A report is expected within two weeks. The accelerant, officials said, smelled like paint thinner.

School officials denounced the house-torching and promised to find other accommodations for Phi Beta Sigma, and several other fraternities suggested and fund-raising drives to help the black organization get a new home.

Alan Keyes battles for GOP respect

By Alicia Benjamin
AFRO Staff Writer

If some Grand Old Party leaders had their way, Alan Keyes, U.S. Senate candidate, would stand before his colleagues at the national Republican convention and say, "I am black and I am a Republican," and discuss racial issues.

But Keyes has other ideas about what he'd like to talk about in New Orleans.

"If they're looking to use me as some kind of black token, they can forget it," said an emphatic Keyes.

"I'm not going to shut up about some of these issues," he said, referring to topics which he feels strongly about.

Keyes was insulted by this approach, which was suggested by some state Republican leaders.

"If I speak, I will speak as an American to all Americans and touch on things of concern to them," he said.

"I wasn't going to be exploited for my race. That was not acceptable to me," he added.

Why did Republican leaders request that Keyes focus on racial themes?

Keyes guessed that it was an attempt by the Republican party officials to capture some of the state's black votes.

But they will not get blacks to vote Republican by simply flaunting a black Republican in their faces, said Keyes.

Republicans in Maryland will only attract black voters by addressing some of the concerns of black residents, he asserted.

Keyes was recently thrust into the limelight after he was chosen by state GOP leaders to battle incumbent Democrat Sen. Paul S. Sarbanes in November.

The Rockville resident is a veteran foreign service officer and is regarded as one of the state's conservative
