

A. I gave her what I could, and she said let the rest go.

Q. Do you know how much you paid her back?

A. No, I don't know.

Q. The amount of $300.00 was correct, was it?

A. No, it wasn't quite that much.

Q. How much was it?

A. What I got was only $100.00 she gave me.

Q. That is one time.

A. That is all.

Q. Didn't you borrow from her on another occasion?

A. No.

Q. Sure about that. Well, on this occasion you borrowed $100.00, could you tell the Examiner how much you paid her back?

A. No, I don't know any more.

Q. Did you pay her half of it back?

A. I think I did.

Q. When was the occasion, Mrs. Harbaugh, that you borrowed $300.00 from your mother?

A. I didn't borrow $300.00 from her.

Q. Never borrowed as much as $300.00 from her?

A. No, I didn't.

Q. You don't mean to say you only borrowed twice, the $500.00 and $100.00; you borrowed more than twice, didn't you?

A. That is all I know of.

Q. Didn't you borrow during your husband's illness or just after your husband's death?

A. No, I didn't.

Q. Didn't borrow any money?

A. No, I didn't.

Q. It was after his death then?

A. After his death when I got that money.

Q. That $100.00.

A. Yes.

Q. Did your mother have any papers when she died, or in the bank?

A. Not that I know of.

Q. Anything in an envelope with any notes or anything in? Where was the will, do you know that?

A. The will was in the Middletown bank, and they notified her to get it and it was got for me and I put it away and kept it.

Q. Was there anything in the envelope besides the will?

A. Not a thing.

Q. Did your mother have any papers in her home at Burkittsville?

A. Not that I found.

Q. Didn't have any memorandum as to how much you owed her?

A. No, sir, she did not.

Q. And you are sure the only two occasions you borrowed was $100.00 and $500.00?

A. That is all.

Q. Sure about that, are you? Is there any question about that being wrong? Is that your final answer, they are the only two times that you borrowed?

A. They are the only two times I remember of.

(Questions by Mr. Coblenz)

Q. Did you still owe her that money when she died?

A. Yes, but I told you I paid her part of that back, that I borrowed after my husband's death.
