

father and two strange gentlemen by the names of Clarence E. Paine and Paul M. Birmingham.

"Before my husband took out a license for the place we investigated the records at the court house and found that those who had licenses before us were, Mr. Clabaugh himself, Mr. Hoffman, Mr. W. Rose and Mr. N. Speak. The record did not show that either Birmingham or Payne ever applied for a license.

"I have made some inquiries about these two strange gentlemen, Clarence E. Paine and Paul M. Birmingham, but have not found anybody that has ever seen or heard of them."
