

big chunk of land that is commercially zoned, and I think this has a definite value on the lots as residential. They are zoned residential. In fact there was just recently a case before the City to put a beer storage of some kind there. So that indicates to the public - that didn't materialize, however it indicates something could go there that wouldn't be too desirable for a strictly residential section.

Q (The Court) For that reason you think it would be better to sell them at this time?

A I do, yes.
