

19 MAY 20

A Not a thing in the world. I didn't have the remotest idea who lives there until Monday, and I found his daughter is living up on the second floor and I don't know the name of the party on the lower floor.

Q Mr. Green, I think.

A Well perhaps it is because I know that I saw Mrs. Green there. She was out in the yard at this other little house - her and another woman - and the other woman was a widow woman by the name of Dean - Bud Dean's wife - I don't know what the real name is.

Q She lives in the little house?

A Apparently does. She seemed to be there. I didn't go in any detail. I only went there to see if that woman would come along over, that was all.

Q Do you know whether Mr. James Withrow left a last will and testament or not?

A No, sir, I don't have the remotest idea about that.

Q Do you know any of his children or heirs-at-law and if so who and where they reside?

A I can't say that I really did know any of his children. I know the boy, Edward H. Withrow.

Q Do you know where he is now?

A Only from hearsay, what you folks told me, that he was in Baltimore.

Q Do you know of any other heirs at law at all?

A That woman living in Brunswick, a daughter, Mrs. Berry. These people haven't resided in Brunswick very long, and I never knew there was a family of that name living there till the old lady died.

Q Do you know why his body was shipped to Ohio?

A Yes, I think that originally he came from Ohio. His wife was shipped down to some place in Virginia - Danville or Richmond - for burial. I was rather surprised when they were going to ship
