

Q. Did you and your husband and now your daughter and her husband occupy this property and claim it as your own for a period of more than twenty years?

A. Absolutely.

Q. Who has been occupying the property in recent years?

A. My daughter and son-in-law have been living in the house on this property and occupying the property for about 32 years. They purchased it from my husband and me in 1941 but, of course, had occupied it for some time before that.
