

because to his Country the Tale or Skirt, to my Province the Mouth or Inlett, that the disproportion of the vallue & Conveniency th' it beares to either of us will defend, at least indulge, my greater Importunity; And yet while the advantage seems to be mine, It is most manefest it will be greatly his proffit to comply; since it will lay his Province between two planted Countryes, And the People transporting themselves to Pennsilvania in Ships consign'd to Maryland and thos ships yearly bringing such english goods as we shall want, will naturally draw our people into his Province to furnish themselves, & to make Maryland the Mark of english Trade, at least for many yeares.

Papers.

What shall I say, My Noble Freind, if the powerfull charmes of interest, if the Love of good neighbourhood, if th' w<sup>ch</sup> is always to be prefer'd wth Persons of the Lord Baltimores Loyalty, I mean Duty to the King, prevale, I must yet promess myselfe an agreement in some faire & happy expedient, & lay by (w<sup>ch</sup> shall be wth delight) the thoughts of an english voyage, th' else, the state of my affaires here, & of my famely there, will of necessity obleidge me to & th' speedely.

I shall end wth this assurance w<sup>ch</sup> I have often Given, and shall most religiously observe, that I shall sincerely embrace all occasions by w<sup>ch</sup> I may approve my selfe
