p. 47 Sir. We have wrote by this Opportunity to M^r Calhoun to furnish, upon your Requisition, Waggon to convey the Cloathing already purchased, to M^r Randall and trust that you will not only have the Blankets, Cloth, Shirts &^{ca} which you and M^r Randall purchased, carefully packed up, but that you will have those sent you by M^r Faw, delivered to the Guard in the same State. The Guard is to be composed of a commissioned Officer, Sergeant Neary, and four Privates, the Serjeant and Privates are now in Baltimore Town. and, if there should be no commissioned Officer there, M^r Calhoun is desired to have a careful Person to command the Guard. Send an Invoice of the Particulars to M^r Randall and a Copy to this Board. There are a Parcel of Shoes and other Articles in the Hands of M^r Muir and a further Quantity is expected Shortly the whole shall be sent you about Monday next, in the Mean Time you may get what you have, in Readiness

p. 48 [Council to James Calhoun Esquire]

Sir The extreme Severity of the Season and the Wants of our Troops, induce us to request of you, a sufficient Number of Waggon to convey the Cloathing already purchased by the State to M^r Randall. The Quantity on Hand is not so considerable as we could wish, but some of the Articles are in great Request, more especially the Blankets; we therefore solicit your good Offices in having them sent on without Loss of Time. There are five Men now in Baltimore of our Line, Sergeant Neary and four Privates; these might serve as a Guard, if you could put them under the Command of a commissioned Officer, and, in Case no Officer should be on the Spot, a prudent Man hired for the Purpose of commanding the Guard would answer the Purpose.
