Mr. Hammond, from the Committee of Laws, delivers to Mr. Speaker the following Address to his Excellency, ingrossed; viz. To his Excellency Horatio Sharpe, Esq; Governor and Commander in Chief in and over the Province of Maryland.

The humble Address of the House of Delegates.

May it please your Excellency,

We, his Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Delegates p. 14 of the Freemen of Maryland, in Assembly convened, beg Leave to return your Excellency our unfeigned Thanks for your affectionate Speech at the Opening of this Session; and readily confess that the ambitious Designs of the French, and the dangerous Consequences from the carrying them into Execution, not only to ourselves, but to all the rest of his Majesty's Dominions in America, are too obvious to need any Repetition of Arguments, that might be urged for the Demonstration of them.

These Designs, so general in their Nature, and destructive in their Consequences, cannot but raise a just and suitable Indignation and Resentment in the Breast of every Man amongst us, who has any Regard either for his own Liberty and Property, or those of his Posterity. And we do assure your Excellency, that we will, with the utmost Dispatch, proceed, so far as our Circumstances will admit, in Concurrence with our neighbouring Governments, in such Measures as shall be most effectual to repel the ambitious and insolent Attempts of our natural Enemies the French, to shew our high and just Esteem of his Majesty's good Opinion and Confidence in us, and to these Ends, according to our Abilities, to enable your Excellency to execute that important Trust reposed in you by his Majesty's Commission, which you have been pleased to lay before us, and upon which we beg your Acceptance of our very hearty Congratulations.
