

time M^r George Robens saruants killd another hogg of the Other Side of the Branch and Gaue yo^r Deponant a peece of the s^d hogg that they then kelled and the wench said it was her masters hogg and Gaue me that Peece of Meate because I Should Not tell and the Wench allsoe tould me that they had killd the said hogg from amungst Nicholas Bartletts hoggs and at another time the Last Sommer M^r Robins Saruant Maid in the hogg house about a howare Within Night and yo^r depon saith th^e s^d hogg was marked with a hole in Each w^{ch} I thinke was George Allembeys hoggs for I doe Not know any other that Giues that Marke and yo^r Deponant saith that the Hogg that was killd in the Swamp and yo^r Deponant said I thinke you will kill all my Masters hoggs and further saith Not The Day and yeare aboute written Sworne before me Edward Roe

Liber BB
No. 2

Talbott ss

[p.—]

Nouember the 10th 1673

Elizabeth Wattson the Wife of Thomas Wattson of this Aged Twenty Six yeares Or there aboutes Sworne and Examined Before me Saith th^t the Said Elizabeth was at the house of George Robbins of this County one Night this Last Sumemer Being Late in the Night and M^r Robbins Enquiered of his Wife Whare the Maid was Gon She Said She was Gon Where you Sent hir, Late in the Night the Said Maid Retorned when the People ware Goeing to Bed and Tould hir said Master and Mistris that She had killed a hogg then M^r Robbins bid his Wife Rise and Desier the Fellow to Goe with the said Maid to Fech the Said Hogg w^{ch} the Maid had killed and to Giue Some Draumes to the Saruant to Make him Willingare to Fech the Said hogg and the Fellow Replied Saing as She had Dun Mischife lett her Suffer for itt Like A Whore as She was then M^r Robbins Askt the wench whether it was a Wild hogg the Wench said it had Whole Eares then the Said M^r Robbins Askt the said Wench whether it was a Sow or a Barrow the wench Swore She did Not know this said hogg was Brought whom Affter Midnight for it Was Affter it was Night When the wench went to kill the hogge & it was I thinke nere Midnight Eare the said wench Retorned home & tould She had killd th^e said hogg then they the man James and the said Maid Went and feched the said hogg home itt Was day, the Next Morneing M^r Robbin flaid the said hogg & I know Not Whether the Wench did help or Noe yo^r Deponant further Saith that at another Certaines time this Last Sumer M^{rs} Robbins Came to her husband and Said the was Butt Little Meate in the house M^r Robbins was then Lying in the Hamaco and then he Called to his Saruant Maid to fech up they two Maires Soe he the Said George Robbins tooke his Gunn & the dog and a Saruant Man With him into the Woods he Went Out about an howare before sonnsett and he Retorned about an heure and halfe within Night and the Brought home with them a Shoate unmarket And an Other hogg the Brought with

[p.—]