p. 466 Which was read the first Time, and Ordered to lye on the Table.

The following Resolves, Viz.<sup>t</sup>

This House taking into their most serious Consideration, the noble and spirited Conduct of the Right Honourable William Pitt, now Earl of Chatham, and the Right Honourable Charles Pratt, Lord Cambden, late Lord Chief Justice of the Common Pleas, and now Lord High Chancellor of England, in defending and supporting the Rights and Liberties of their fellow Subjects in general, and animated by the most lively Sense of their important Services to the united Interests of Great Britain, and her Colonies, in a late critical and alarming Juncture, think themselves indispensibly obliged to transmit to Posterity the grateful Sentiments they entertain of the inflexible Integrity, and conspicuous Abilities of those shining Ornaments of their Country, who, uninfluenced by narrow Views, from local Attachments, have, in the genuine Spirit of true Patriots, and faithful Guardians of the Common Weal, extended their Regards to the comprehensive Object of the whole British Empire. As a Monument therefore, of the Virtues of those illustrious Personages, and a lasting Testimony of the Gratitude of the Freemen of Maryland, this House hath unanimously Resolved, That a sufficient Sum of Public Money be appropriated to purchase an elegant Marble Statue of the said Earl of Chatham, to be set up in such Place within the City of Annapolis, as the Lower House of Assembly shall direct: That the said Lord Cambden be requested, to permit his Picture to be taken from the Life, by some eminent Hand, at the Expence of this Province, to be placed in the Provincial Court. And, that Two thousand two hundred and fifty Dollars of the Bills of Credit, to be emitted, be laid out in Bills of Exchange by the Commissioners, and by them remitted to the Trustees, residing in
