In conclusion, the idea of the Great Empire would have to be the hinge and the fulcrum of the history of the world. We have seen how the most powerful nations have evolved from the Great Empire. The United States, for example, was founded on the principles of the Great Empire. The Russian Empire, on the other hand, was a direct descendant of the Great Empire. The British Empire, which was once the largest empire in the world, was also founded on the principles of the Great Empire. The Great Empire has had a profound influence on the development of modern nations. It has shaped the world we live in today.
