

Q. Governor, a while back you gave your report on Mr. Eney for the Convention head. Do you still feel Mr. Eney will be desirable?

A. I think Mr. Eney would be a very fine choice to head the Convention.

Q. How about Governor Tawes?

A. I think Governor Tawes would do a very adequate job as the chairman of the Convention.

Q. George Della?

A. I don't have any particular feeling against Mr. Della. I think he's experienced, but my choice would have to be Mr. Eney.

Q. How about Mr. Gallagher?

A. We could be here all day.

Q. Governor, speaking of choices, do you have a new candidate in mind for the Republican presidential nomination?

A. No, I've been a little too busy to worry about national politics, lately.

Q. Speaking of choices, how about a new Banking Commissioner?

A. I expect that will be ready for announcement within the next three or four days.

Q. Have you decided on who will head the Department of Building, Savings and Loan Associations?

A. Again, this is something that's imminent that hasn't been decided yet, but I expect it within the next three or four days.

Q. You reported recently that only one of the candidates on the list was a serious candidate. Do you still find that to be true?

A. No, I haven't verified that contention by making any effort to call the nominees on the list. I do have a meeting set with Mr. Housley to discuss the general situation with him and that's why the appointment is being held up.

Q. Governor, how sensitive an agency is this department?

A. I think it's a very sensitive agency. I think that, because of the past scandals in the area, we've got to be extremely careful that the person we have not only has the knowledge and the ability to perform well but has the confidence of the people in the institutions.
