There was no opening statement by the Governor.

Questions and Answers
(Rockefeller Campaign)

Q. Governor, Governor Rockefeller is starting an intensive campaign in newspaper advertising, radio, television commercials in hopes of soliciting support from the people who were behind Senator Kennedy before his assassination. Do you think that Governor Rockefeller has a good chance of winning some of these people to his side?

A. Well, it's pretty hard to judge at this time. He has just begun the tactic of attempting to woo over some of the Kennedy supporters. I guess that we'll have to wait and see what the reaction to it is. The news story this morning certainly indicated that he has been very benign in his attitudes toward the opposite party, and I assume that he's going to use the technique which has been very successful for him in New York of attempting to prove his attractiveness to the independent and to the Democratic voter who may not wish to go along with his own Party's selection.

(Meetings with Nixon)

Q. Governor, there has been a persistent rumor that you are going to be or have been offered a Federal job if Mr. Nixon gets to be President. Is this true or not?

A. No. I haven't been offered any jobs, and my conversations with Mr. Nixon have been related mainly to the issues and to his request that I give him what benefit there is of my thinking on the problems facing the country domestically. As a matter of fact he did send one of his staff members down more than a month ago to discuss certain problems related to welfare and the cities with me.
