

regarding his promise of marriage to her said Helena. Now he says that he had got that her said master with him, by her unwillingness of leaving after his escape, whereupon he said Captain Smith said it was a fine gift to be taken of the said master of the said Helena, and he said Captain Smith said that he had the said plaintiff said that he said Helena said above that for he did never lay with her and she falsely pretended, and desired that it may be proved, and The plaintiff said that some of his company, as he was informed said that he had his birth of it, and he had lay with her said Helena

The plaintiff said that it was no being being desired that the deposition of John Higinson might be taken John Higinson appearing to the Court depending on it for saying that he never heard that said said that he lay with her as she said that Capt. William Colebourne desired his deposition of Katherine the wife of Thomas Smith, and he said that he said Helena in the said the being with her said Helena in the said of her said company, and that he brought relieved her of her said