Svorne saith Richard DeBorste was at use to surveye a piece of Land the other side the Creek & asked m^r Revell whether he was concerned in it, and m^r Revell made me answer that he did see & was his friend (which was before m^r Revell had a patent for the Land m^r Revell liveth upon) And told me that he would give me warrants to surveye two more for some gentlemen of James river pointinge his hand over the Creek, & was then near DeBorste on betwixt Owen Martin and DeBorste & did surveye one more for Capt: Bridger and another for other for Capt: Plawick and Masworthey, Sometime after that m^r Revell he quarrelled with me and asked me why I
