

be one thousand dollars per annum each; assistant deputy inspectors, receiving clerks, shipping clerks and weighing clerks shall be eight hundred dollars per annum each, and that of sample tyers seven hundred dollars per annum each. The wages of the assistant clerks, janitors, finders, elevator and stay-floormen and screwmen shall be two dollars per day each, and the wages of the laborers shall be one dollar and fifty cents per day each. No deputy inspector shall employ any additional force or labor than that hereinbefore specified without the approval of the chief inspector, but with such approval the said deputy inspectors are authorized to employ as many laborers at one dollar and fifty cents a day as may be necessary for the proper and economical management of their respective warehouses, and it shall be the duty of the chief inspector to discharge any of said laborers or screwmen whenever their services are not necessary to the proper working of any of the said warehouses.

14. The chief inspector shall have full charge of all the receipts and disbursements of the said warehouses, shall make all contracts for nails or other articles required for the use of said warehouses, except for repairs, and shall make a report quarterly to the Comptroller, on the first of January, April, July and October in each year, showing the receipts and disbursements of each of said warehouses, with the vouchers therefor, giving in detail the respective amounts received from outage, storage, cooperage, reconditioning, stays and sale of scraps; and also showing the respective amounts paid for labor, nails, lumber, hoops, incidentals, wages and salaries, and showing the cash balance for each quarter; and at the quarter ending July first in each year pay over to the Comptroller all moneys in hand after paying all expenses and salaries of said warehouses; and said chief inspector shall have power to have tobacco delivered at such warehouses as in his judgment may seem best for the public interest.
