

1     tried without a jury, where the right of removal might be
2     equally as important as cases being tried before a jury,
3     particularly where it may be an atmosphere in a particular
4     county that would justify the removal.

5             THE CHAIRMAN: Delegate Case.

6             DELEGATE CASE: Wouldn't the same atmosphere
7     apply in an equity case? All you have got in each of 8     the cases I am suggesting to you is the judge sitting on 9     the bench. Wouldn't the atmosphere be exactly the same?

10            THE CHAIRMAN: Delegate Clagett.

11            DELEGATE CLAGETT: Running back over a
12     period of twenty years of practice, I find no example
13     where I would feel that that would be true. However,
14     Delegate Case, I think that our mental telegraphic system
15     here is not working too well. Do you have an amendment
16     to suggest to the amendment?

17            THE CHAIRMAN: Delegate Case.

18            DELEGATE CASE: No, sir. I have no amendment
19     to suggest. I am trying to find out what is behind your 20     amendment and I would like to ask you another question.

21            There are a number of matters of law which are
