

1 reports, and if it wasn't for an enterprising reporter
2 of The Sunpapers, we would probably have no record; but 3 there is no reason why committees should not give reasons
4 to preserve the record for posterity. There is an equally 5 important and more contemporaneous reason. That is for 6 the education of the delegates. After all, we are only 7 members of one substantive committee, which will occupy
8 most of our time and attention, and when a proposal comes 9 to us from a committee, if all we had was the bare proposal, 10 how in heaven's name would we be enlightened as to what 11 it really meant and what the reason for it was?

12 On the other hand, we don't necessarily want
13 Ulysses or the Holy Bible to accompany every committee
14 report, and upon the suggestion of Senator James, we have 15 put in the word, concise, which fortunately, while the 16 word is concise, it means concise, it is capable of being 17 given a broad and flexible interpretation. In any event,
18 I always thought that the rules as originally drafted im-
19 plied that all the substantive committee reports would be 20 written; and I think a number of the members of the Com-
21 mittee are of the same view. When we discovered that
