

1 DELEGATE GULLETT: I think that there is built
2 into this amendment and also into the original provision
3 of the Schedule of Legislation provision if the county
4 commissioners appear to be dilatory to the extent that they 5 do not appoint the board, the first per cent of the 6 registered voters would then get excited enough to force 7 the county commissioners to appoint the board and probably 8 would proceed to elect their own board and probably 9 could write a charter. They could actually write a 10 charter in less than twelve months. If they wrote the 11 charter within six months, they could turn this over to 12 the county commissioners and they could speed this process
13 up so if the process could be completed in time even 14 though some time were lost initially by the county
15 commissioners failing to act properly, this could be 16 caught up by the voters themselves if they rose up in 17 anxiety about not getting the charter process started.

18 THE CHAIRMAN: Any other questions?

19 Delegate Sosnowski.

20 DELEGATE SOSNOWSKI: Is there anything in here
21 to prevent the county commissioners from nominating a
