

1 have amended the rule, we are not required to vote separately
2 on sections. We are required to vote separately on 3 articles and divisions.

4 As you have been previously advised, the 5 draft of the Constitution, including both the Schedule of 6 Transitional Provisions and the Schedule of Legislation,
7 are open to amendment on the third reading. More about 8 that in a moment.

9 In submitting the document to you for final
10 votes, it will be submitted in these divisions: First,
11 the preamble, next, Article I, and then successively each
12 article through Article X.

13 Next, the Schedule of Transitional Provisions
14 and next the Schedule of Legislation.

15 Inasmuch as the entire document is open to 16 amendment, it will be submitted to you first in these 17 divisions for purposes of amendment.

18 In other words, the Chair will first take up the 19 preamble, ask for amendments, consider and act upon any 20 amendments with respect to preamble and when all amendments
21 have been acted upon, move on and proceed in the same
