

1 adequate and sufficiently flexible within rule-making
2 power of the Court of Appeals to provide the facility and 3 the manpower necessary to accommodate the needs of any 4 particular jurisdiction in the matter of a specialty
5 court. Suggestions brought before the committee were for 6 Tax Court, Court of Claims, Housing Court, Family Court,
7 and specialty courts of such jurisdiction.

8 Obviously there is at the moment in some limited 9 areas a need to accommodate the specialties in those 10 areas. However, the mandate in the Constitution, provi-
11 sion for those courts needed only in certain areas, per-12 haps only temporarily, would in the view of the majority
13 be an unnecessary constitutional provision.

14 We are confident that the wide latitude allowed
15 in the matter of creating functional divisions can accom-
16 modate the need for such specialty courts.

17 In the matter of the District Courts, there
18 was considerable discussion in our committee and testimony
19 to support the need for a District Court in every county.
20 Our committee was requested by several persuasive wit-
21 nesses to make provision in the Constitution for a District
