

1 birthday; and isn't it true that he is a pleasant, intelli-
2 gent, articulate -- what else -- aren't all these things
3 true about him , and shouldn't we give him a round of 4 applause?

5 DELEGATE MUDD: Exactly; except I didn't think
6 he was 48. (Laughter.) (Applause.)

7 THE CHAIRMAN: Delegate Rybczynski.

8 DELEGATE RYBCZYNSKI: I would like to ask
9 another question.

10 DELEGATE MUDD: Don't make it that long.

11 DELEGATE RYBCZYNSKI: Delegate Mudd, with reference
12 to the uniformity of the four tier system, plus the inclu-
13 sion of the commissioners, who, I suppose in many respects 14 would be like the masters we now use, can you give us an 15 estimate of the anticipated cost, say within the first 16 five years of operation of this new four-tier system?

17 DELEGATE MUDD: The only answer I can give 18 to him is the one Delegate Bradshaw gave a few moments
19 ago, that the information he has now so far assembled
20 shows it would cost approximately $250,000 more per year
21 than the present cost to administer the court system.
