

1 He is very anxious to meet and talk to some of the Con-
2 vention delegates, and is anxious also to observe the 3 session tomorrow afternoon.

4 The Secretary of the Convention will accompany
5 Mr. Sass and Mr. Buchwalter of the Department of State
6 and introduce him to the delegates at the various com-
7 mittee meetings.

8 Miss McNiel requests me to advise that she now 9 had a pool, small pool, but nevertheless a pool of 10 typists and stenographers available, or will be available
11 by the end of the day. If you find that you need ad-12 ditional typing or stenographic service that cannot be 13 rendered to you promptly by the secretaries assigned 14 to the Committee, if you will communicate with Miss Joyce 15 McNiel, who has an office upstairs in Room 6207, and her 16 telephone extension is 345 or 247, you will find her 17 most accommodating. She will endeavor to get you secre-
18 tarial assistance very promptly.

19 You should have on your desk today the complete
20 ten-page memorandum that is headed, President's ~~Precedents~~ Memorandum 21 No. 13, and deals with the assignment for study and consideration purposes of provisions of the present
