

1 the diffusion of knowledge"came the development of our state
2 school laws, and system. Out of the Constitutional mandate
3 that sanguinary laws ought to be avoided has grown a good
4 deal of our penal code.

5 Some said this won't mean a thing to put it in the 6 Constitution at the time it was debated. We have not 7 been overly concerned about including long passages that 8 assure the security of justice -- 10 pages, -- here we 9 are talking about one sentence, not ten pages. I am 10 against class or special Constitutional provisions for 11 lumbermen, oystermen, coal miners or even school teachers, 12 and there are some state Constitutions that have some 13 special provisions for them.

14 I do not believe they belong in the Constitution, 15 but the consumer involves all the people. This action would 16 tell the aged, the poor, the indigent, indeed all the 17 people that we care.

18 The other day when we included the Section on 19 Natural Resources, there were some who said this is not 20 Constitutional. It is hortature. But over 100 of us felt 21 that the natural resources were important because they
