

1 the Committee the temporary provision which started all this
2 discussion. I won't comment on that at this point.

3 4.19, as its title indicates, is intended to 4 relate to the reorganization of the Executive Branch after 5 it has once been organized under 4.18 and again as Delegate
6 Gleason suggests, there are two ways in which it can be 7 reorganized, the powers would be concurrent either in the 8 General Assembly by normal statutory procedures or in the 9 executive subject to veto by General Assembly -- in the 10 General Orders. If we keep that structure in mind, maybe 11 some of the questions would not be so tense as they other-12 wise would be.

13 Referring to the question Delegate Case raises,
14 the use of the term "by law", it seems to me that is kept 15 somewhat in perspective if we realize -- let me make one
16 preliminary point, that is, that there is a distinct 17 difference in the language here, or at least there is 18 intended to be a difference between the creation of new 19 functions and the assignment or allocation of existing 20 functions. The language being clearly intended, whether it
21 does or not is a matter of faith, but I think it is clear
