

1 bodies has directed. It may be a job, but it can be done.
2 However, it is totally impossible to find this at any place
3 in Maryland. Now, you can argue yes, we have three statutes
4 which direct this to be done. I only point out to you that 5 it has not been done, and it is necessary to force it to 6 be done. The second sentence of this says "Unless otherwise 7 provided by law, no action having a force of law shall be 8 effective until it is made a part of this compilation and 9 published." Only in the Constitution can you cut broadly
10 across the law-making power of these 197 bodies to require
11 them to do this, otherwise there would be no way that you
12 can force that the laws made by these law-making bodies not 13 be effective until this is complied with. There is an 14 escape clause "unless otherwise provided by law." This 15 would most certainly exempt emergency legislation; it would 16 exempt small things such as letting poeple off on a snowy
17 day. However, I want to point out to you this is not only 18 teeth which would be an advantage to get this done, it is 19 also something that would settle a legal problem.
