

1 you go you might go out and do it again. I don't think we 2 run that kind of country. I hope not. I don't think 3 that is any ground for any man, again judges are men, to 4 make that decision, if a man has not yet been convicted, 5 no matter if he was convicted a hundred times before for 6 a hundred other crimes, he should^{not}/be able to be held in 7 jail until such time as the judge gets around to confirm-8 ing what he has already found in his own mind.

9 THE CHAIRMAN: Delegate Kiefer, do you desire
10 to comment?

11 DELEGATE KIEFER: I will yield to Delegate
12 Child.

13 THE CHAIRMAN: Delegate Child.

14 DELEGATE BOYCE: Mr. Chairman --

15 DELEGATE CHILD: Mr. Chairman, I don't want to 16 prolong the argument.

17 THE CHAIRMAN: For what purpose does Delegate
18 Boyce rise?

19 DELEGATE BOYCE: Shouldn't Chairman Kiefer
20 yield to the majority author of this thing rather than the 21 minority author? This is a point of personal privilege.
