

1 the right to participate in activities regulated by the 2 State, including professions and occupations, licensing,
3 and the armed forces; and also governmental and private 4 bond and insurance rights.

5 He goes on to say:

6 "Currently we have a double punishment, the 7 actual period of time spent in jail, as well as the lifetime
8 disability. My recommendation is that a time period be set 9 forth at the completion of which disabilities ingendered by 10 conviction may be reviewed and lifted. In trying to 11 determine the length of disability one might look either to 12 a flat rule, in other words, in misdemeanors perhaps that 13 disability should last the length of time of the original 14 sentence.

15 "For example, if a man receives five years, serves 16 his five years or is released early on parole and for an 17 additional five years should have no other conviction, then 18 (himself)
19 perhaps the disabilities that he found/vested with as a 20 result of his conviction could be lifted. It would appear 21 that this would be an incentive for leading a good, useful and productive life in society."
