

1 compensation for it. Considering this, and this is how 2 it would work. Assuming that you were on a highway and 3 authority would be given to a corporation to run a
4 toll bridge and this corporation did not take your pro-
5 perty but they went in front of it and the wall of the 6 overpass bridge went higher than the roof of your house,
7 so if your house was only 15 feet from the highway, you
8 certainly would suffer substantial damages although not 9 one/of your property would be taken.

10 So in all fairness, I would say that the 11 condemning authority should pay for those damages.

12 DELEGATE CLARK: Delegate Gilchrist.

13 DELEGATE GILCHRIST: Would the same analogy
14 apply if a power company, for example, strung a wire
15 say a couple of hundred yards from your property and inter-
16 fered with your view?

17 DELEGATE CLARK: Delegate Weidemeyer.

18 DELEGATE WEIDEMEYER: Well, if the power
19 company strung a wire across from my property they would 20 be taking the property and there would be the matter of 21 resulting damages in connection with it.
