

ally with this heritage of democracy, from resentfulness of its failures, from manipulation of its weaknesses, Good Lord preserve us. From ingratitude and carelessness toward Thee Who art the only source of liberty and brotherhood, Good Lord, deliver us.

Father of all men, in Whom every family on earth is named, Thou knowest the soul of each human being. We pray for all in public life. From the conflict of voices let just decisions flow. From the human temptation to serve self interest and from the ease of confusing personal with public good, O God, deliver them, for their strength is in the search for peace.

We pray for all who are dear to us. We who enjoy the demands of a public life acknowledge that it is our children, friends and family who often bear quietly its cost of separation and loneliness. Grant to each son and daughter and wife or husband here represented the guidance and the safety for which we yearn. And grant to each father, mother, wife or husband here present a deeper humanity. Thus let the hours spent in the circle of our families be filled with helpfulness and love. And we pray for all who are affected by our work. Make us mindful of the true needs of every father, every mother, every child in the society that is to be.

O God, Who art the Author of time itself, a thousand years in Thy sight are but a moment. Before Thee the nations rise and pass away. Yet each hour is of eternal significance. Show us both the grandeur, the urgency and the transitory nature of our work. For our time is short and the days speed on. So teach us to number our days that we may apply our hearts to wisdom, and let the beauty of the Lord, our God be upon us; and establish Thou the work of our hands upon us, here; the work of our hands, establish Thou it.

Mindful of Thy Son Whose life and work indelibly changed the world, even though his days on earth were few, we make these prayers.

Amen.
