

There being 77 votes in the affirmative and 54 in the negative, the motion carries.

Delegate Burdette.

DELEGATE BURDETTE: May I make a parliamentary inquiry, Mr. President?

THE PRESIDENT: State the inquiry.

DELEGATE BURDETTE: Is it the ruling of the Chair that this special order of business is at the beginning of the next sitting of the Committee of the Whole?

THE PRESIDENT: It is not. It will be at such time in the next session of the Committee of the Whole as is approved by the Convention, on recommendation of the Committee on Calendar and Agenda. The Chair would anticipate that there may be a matter under consideration, and the Committee on Calendar may therefore suggest a special hour or it may suggest that it come up at a time when the matter under consideration has been concluded. Delegate Burdette.

DELEGATE BURDETTE: If I may pursue the parliamentary inquiry, Mr. President, the problem of confusion arises from the discussion of getting votes on a number of other state officers out of the way first; but I do not know whether that was a part of the motion.

THE PRESIDENT: It was not, but the Chair has every confidence in the Committee on Calendar and Agenda, and has no doubt that they will take that into consideration in preparing the Agenda for tomorrow.

DELEGATE BURDETTE: Thank you.

THE PRESIDENT: Delegate Morgan. For what purpose does the delegate rise?

DELEGATE MORGAN: Mr. Chairman, have we come to Recommendation No. 2?

THE PRESIDENT: We have not. We are still in Convention.

Delegate Barrick.

DELEGATE BARRICK: Mr. Chairman, I rise for a personal privilege.

THE PRESIDENT: State the privilege.

DELEGATE BARRICK: Delegate Bard earlier in the day told us how the Convention had interfered with his wedding anniversary, and now he comes to us this evening in formal clothes and apparently we are further interfering with his social life, and I would just like to point out the sacrifice that he is making.

(Applause.)

THE PRESIDENT: Delegate Marion.

DELEGATE MARION: Mr. President, might I be permitted a brief personal observation?

THE PRESIDENT: You may.

DELEGATE MARION: The debate and discussion both immediately prior to the supper recess, as well as some of the discussion and conversation since then, remind me of a story I heard over the weekend of the young boy who was asked in school by his teacher what his favorite Christmas carol was; and he said that he had a favorite but he just could not remember the name of it, and the teacher said, "Well, do you know how the tune goes?" He thought a minute and said no, he did not remember how the tune went. She said, "Do you remember any of the words?" He thought for a minute, and he said, no, he could not remember any of the words. With that the little boy next to him said, "You know, that is my favorite Christmas carol, too."

THE PRESIDENT: Delegate Powers.

DELEGATE POWERS: Mr. President, I move the Convention resolve itself into the Committee of the Whole to resume consideration of Committee Report EB-1, subject to the amendment provided for the first item to be a special order tomorrow.

THE PRESIDENT: Is the motion seconded?

(Whereupon, the motion was duly seconded.)

THE PRESIDENT: All in favor, signify by saying Aye; contrary, No. The Ayes have it. It is so ordered. The Committee of the Whole will please come to order.

(Whereupon, at 8:35 P.M., the Convention resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole.)

(The mace was removed by the Sergeant-at-Arms.)

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE

NOVEMBER 27, 1967—8:35 P.M.

PRESIDENT H. VERNON ENEY,
PRESIDING

THE CHAIRMAN: Next item on the Agenda is consideration of Recommendation No. 2. The Chair recognizes Delegate
