

The Ayes have it. It is ordered. The question arises on the motion to amend the motion to refer—

DELEGATE WHITE: Mr. President.

THE PRESIDENT: For what purpose does Delegate White rise?

DELEGATE WHITE: I rise on a point of personal privilege.

THE PRESIDENT: State the personal privilege.

DELEGATE WHITE: My good friend from the First District, Rybczynski, has called the name of Delegate Miller, and he has fallen into the same trap which he alleges my good friend Nick [Nicholas Schloeder] on my committee allegedly fell into by calling names.

THE PRESIDENT: Delegate White, I do not believe you are speaking to a personal privilege under the rules.

DELEGATE WHITE: I understood that he stated that the motion was aimed at Mr. Miller. It was not.

THE PRESIDENT: Very well, sir.

DELEGATE WHITE: I wish to rebut this. I did not have Delegate Miller in mind. I am aware of his infirmity, and I am not going to call the name of the person whom I have in mind, unless I am requested to do so by the Chair, but I refer to a gentleman I have personal knowledge of.

THE PRESIDENT: Delegate White, I think you are exceeding the point of personal privilege. The question arises on the motion to amend the motion, by adding at the end thereof a provision that the Committee on Rules give attention to the relationship between the attendance of members at meetings of substantive committees, and their voting as members of such committees. A vote Aye is a vote in favor of the amendment, a vote No is a vote against the amendment.

Are you ready for the question?

(Call for the question.)

All those in favor, signify by saying Aye; contrary, No. The Noes have it. The motion is lost. The amendment is rejected. Delegate Gleason.

DELEGATE GLEASON: Mr. President—

THE PRESIDENT: The question now is on the principal motion.

DELEGATE GLEASON: I move the previous question.

(The motion was duly seconded.)

THE PRESIDENT: Previous question having been moved and seconded—for what purpose does Delegate Weidemeyer rise?

DELEGATE WEIDEMEYER: I rose not knowing they were going to vote on this matter, to make a motion to substitute—

THE PRESIDENT: I think the motion would be out of order. This motion takes precedence. Are you ready for the question?

(Call for the question.)

The question arises on the motion to refer Resolution No. 18 to the Committee on Rules, Credentials and Convention Budget for consideration and report of its consequences in the light of Convention Rule 28 [29].

DELEGATE GLEASON: Mr. President.

THE PRESIDENT: The question arises on the motion of the previous question. I am sorry.

All those in favor of the motion to the previous question, signify by saying Aye; contrary, No. The Ayes seem to have it. The Ayes have it. It is ordered.

The question now arises on the motion to refer Resolution No. 18 to the Committee on Rules, Credentials and Convention Budget for consideration and report of its consequences in the light of Convention Rule 28 [29]. A vote Aye is a vote in favor of the motion, a vote No is a vote against the motion. The Chair thinks a roll call vote is desirable. For what purpose does Delegate Storm arise?

DELEGATE STORM: Point of inquiry. Mr. President, what would be the effect on Resolution No. 18 if this is not referred to the committee?

THE PRESIDENT: It is still on the floor for discussion and consideration, and unless some action is taken pursuant to another motion, it would be referred by the Chair pursuant to the rules of the Convention.

DELEGATE STORM: In other words, it would not still be in effect?

THE PRESIDENT: It would not be. A motion to adopt Resolution No. 18 has been reconsidered. For what purpose does Delegate Weidemeyer arise?
