

THE CHAIRMAN: The question arises on the adoption of Amendment No. 10 to Committee Recommendation GP-13.

A vote Aye is a vote in favor of Amendment No. 10. A vote No is a vote against.

Cast your votes.

Has every delegate voted? Does any delegate desire to change his vote?

(There was no response.)

The Clerk will record the vote.

There being 97 votes in the affirmative and none in the negative, the motion carries. The amendment is adopted.

The pages will please distribute the Amendment Y for yoke. This is Amendment No. 9 on which you have already acted.

Delegate Rybczynski, the Chair has been advised by Delegate Fornos that after some discussion with him, you will not offer your Amendment S. Is that correct?

DELEGATE RYBCZYNSKI: That is correct, sir.

THE CHAIRMAN: Thank you.

And the same applies to your Amendment T?

DELEGATE RYBCZYNSKI: Correct, sir. I would appreciate that they not be destroyed until we get through with this business.

THE CHAIRMAN: That is right, just passed.

Delegate Gill, I understand you have the same feeling with respect to your amendments in X and W?

DELEGATE GILL: X and W, hold them, please.

THE CHAIRMAN: Very well.

The amendment prepared by Delegate Fornos and others pertains to section 30 in the transitional provisions, and sections 21, I think, 22, and 23 on the schedule of legislation. They are quite involved. A preliminary examination by Delegate Hardwicke and the members of the staff leads them to advise the Chair that with further time for study, they may accept the amendments and save a great deal of unnecessary discussion. The Chair, therefore, proposes to pass and not consider finally this evening section 30 under the schedule of transitional provisions, and sections 21, 22, and 23 under the schedule of legislation, but to continue and to conclude discussion in the Committee of the Whole of the remaining part of the schedule of legislation and report out by the Committee of the Whole to the Convention this evening, move to suspend the rules and pass on second reading these two schedules with the exceptions noted.

There is one other perfecting amendment to one of the sections on suffrage and elections passed yesterday which, I think, must be acted upon, but which will not require a great deal of discussion. If we can carry through this program we ought to conclude the session this evening without too much longer time, and I think we could then adjourn until about noon tomorrow, have a session to take care of a number of housekeeping details that must be taken care of such as post Convention procedures, resolutions of thanks, and a number of other matters of that sort, hopefully to conclude the session by 4:00 P.M. or thereabouts tomorrow afternoon, adjourn to Saturday, and take final votes on Saturday assuming that the Committee on Style is able to complete its work tomorrow as they hope they can and have available their final report for consideration Saturday.

The only reason for acting on second reading by the Convention tonight on these schedules is that, as I indicated several days ago, I have had the staff of the Committee on Style reviewing these two schedules for the past few days so that if they had any serious style amendments, they could present them to us very promptly.

They do not have any such amendments to suggest. These two schedules as indicated earlier are much less important from the point of view of style than the constitution on which we have been working and, in any event, even after second reading passage this evening any style changes that did develop to be necessary could be acted upon tomorrow afternoon. I make that announcement now to give you some idea of what the program is likely to be for the next few days.

Are there any other amendments to section 30?

The Chair hears none.

Are there any other amendments to section 31?

Are there any other amendments to section 32?

(There was no response to these questions.)
