

To the first interrogatory:

A. 53 years; been a voter 32 years; resided in 1865 in the second District.

2d.

A. Did apply; confronted with no witnesses; notified of no charge; took the oath and answered all the questions; Mr. Pusey, one of the Registers remarked, I had answered more satisfactorily than any one who had been before him: I think it was on the second day they met for review, that I applied again; Mr. Wilson, one of the Registers, and Mr. Mills also, a Register, only were present; I asked them why my name was not put on the list of qualified voters; they were sitting then in the bar-room of the Hotel: Mr. Mills observed, that they had better retire up stairs to their room: I was invited up; Mr. Wilson then said, that he had heard me say in Mr. Kennedy's store, that the Rebels were in Maryland, and I wished they would stay here; he asked me what reason I had for saying so; I told him I might have had various reasons, but I had nothing particular then to refresh my mind, and asked him if I expressed at the time why I had made such a wish; he said I had not, I had only made the remark: I told Mr. Wilson he was present when I applied to be registered, that if that remark was an objection why he had not stated it then; he remarked that it was not necessary for witnesses to appear; I told him I knew the law and thought it was; Mr. Mills then said there were a great many reports against me about aiding the South; I said that it was the first I had heard of it, that if he knew of such things he ought to have witnesses against me; he also said, witnesses were not necessary.
