

INCIDENTS.

“HARVEST HOME.”

“One Saved.”

Received a visit from No. 300, who called to inform us that, having arrived at age, she has been released from the care of her foster parents, residing in the country, with whom she has been living since June 6th, 1863. She furthermore informs us, with feelings of deep gratitude, that she has enjoyed the advantages of an excellent Christian home, with many earthly comforts. Her foster parents have strictly adhered to the contract into which they originally entered with our Society, by furnishing her at the close of her engagement with an entire outfit of excellent clothing and thirty dollars in cash, which she has deposited in the “Savings’ Bank of Baltimore.” Independently of all this, while in her home she was treated as a child of the family, and her education zealously promoted. Since her return to the city, she has secured a position which protects her from those temptations by which she was originally surrounded. Her parents being exceedingly intemperate, allowed her to be thrown among the worst associations of our streets, by whom she would have been ruined, had she remained longer under their contaminating influences. Should we not feel encouraged to go on with our glorious work?

“ESCAPED TO THE MOUNTAINS.”

Nos. 412 and 415, two little German boys, respectively nine and six years of age. Mother a low degraded vagrant; father intelligent and very respectable—tailor by trade. Mother appeared at the office, and stated that, by advice of Stephen Whalen, Esq., Justice of the Peace, she had called to request that we receive her two sons, (above referred to,) she being no longer able to provide for them, her husband having deserted her and the children. The poor creature was then under the influence of drink, and we have never
