

DIRECTIONS FOR GUARDIANS. 149

and increase of their stock, 1715. chap. 39.
§ 9.

All cattle, horses, and sheep, shall be returned by guardians in kind, and of the same value. Same act. § 11.

All money, plate, rings and jewels to be preserved, and delivered to the orphan when at age. Same act. § 12.

All household-stuff and lumber, if any be received by the guardian, to be appraised, and paid to the orphan, when at age, in money or tobacco. Ibid. § 12.

All slaves shall be appraised to the guardians; and the like number of slaves, of like ability of body, shall be returned to the orphan when at age: if the slaves are grown aged, or otherwise impotent or be lamed, and that the increase will not make the original stock good, as to the number and ability of body, then they shall again be appraised; and the guardian pay so much to the orphan, as such slaves shall be found worse than when first appraised. Ibid.
