

A BEQUEST of FURNITURE as an (A) Heir-
Loom.

Item,—I give and bequeath unto the said M. A. and W. A. their executors, administrators, and assigns, all the furniture, household stuff, and utensils in or belonging to my mansion house at _____ (other than, and except my silver plate, which I will shall be taken, deemed and accounted as part of my personal estate) also all the orange trees and lemon trees, and all other greens and plants in, about or belonging to my said mansion house, or the gardens to the same belonging; UPON TRUST nevertheless to permit and suffer the same to continue and remain as heir-looms in and about the said house, for the use of every such person and persons, who for the time being, shall respectively be seized or possessed of the freehold of the same mansion-house and premises, by force and virtue of any devise or limitation thereof in this my last will and testament

(A) Heir-looms descend to the heir by custom, along with the freehold; and some say they are not devisable; (custom being preferable to a devise.)
