

ARTICLE LXII.

Merger.

SEC. 1. Where the reversion of any land expectant on a lease shall be merged in any other estate, the person entitled to the estate into which such reversion shall have merged, shall have the same remedy against the lessee, his representative or assigns, for non-payment of rent or other forfeiture, or for not performing conditions, covenants or agreements, as the person entitled to the reversion would have had if such reversion had not merged.

2. There shall be no merger by reason of any conveyance by way of mortgage, or assignment of mortgage, from the lessee of any ground demised for a term of years, his executors, administrators or assigns, to the lessor of such ground or premises, (whether by original or sub-lease,) his heirs, executors, administrators or assigns, and the same rights and remedies shall exist as if the grantee in such conveyance had no other interest or estate in the property than the one thereby conveyed.

ARTICLE LXIII.

Militia.

SEC. 1. All able bodied white male citizens between eighteen and forty-five years of age, shall be subject to militia duty, except officers of the Government of the United States and their clerks, postmasters, ferrymen employed at any ferry on a post road, stage drivers employed to carry the United States' mail, the Secretary of State, Comptroller, Treasurer, the Commissioner of the Land Office, and their respective clerks, the judges of the several courts in this State, and the clerks of said courts, the Registers of Wills, the members of the General Assembly and their clerks while in session, the professors and tutors of colleges and public schools, school masters, practising physicians, ministers of the Gospel, ordained, licensed or recognized by any
