

341. The general inspector and assistant inspectors shall apportion among themselves the whole of the expenses of their respective offices, and each shall bear and pay an equal part of such expenses.

342. It shall be the duty of the general inspector to perform the duties of an assistant inspector during the absence of any one of said inspectors on account of sickness or any other cause.

343. The general inspector and assistant inspector shall be entitled to charge one cent for each barrel or half barrel inspected by them, and any inspector who shall demand or receive any greater sum shall forfeit the sum of twenty dollars for each offence.

344. The inspector shall, at the time of inspecting each barrel and half barrel of flour, brand thereon the year and month of his so inspecting it, and if of a superior quality to that denominated and branded "Superfine," but not of the quality of "Family," he shall brand the same "Extra," and if of a superior quality to that denominated and branded "Extra," he shall brand it "Family," which brand shall be considered the best or finest brand; and if any person or persons other than the inspectors of flour duly appointed shall place the said brands on any cask, barrel or half barrel, he shall forfeit and pay not less than five nor more than twenty dollars.

345. The dimensions of the letters of every brand used by the inspectors shall be three-eighths of an inch in length.

346. In all cases of appeal from the judgment of any inspector, the three persons who shall review the same shall first take an oath to decide the case, to be reviewed agreeably to the standard fixed as aforesaid, and shall proceed to view and carefully examine the flour in question, and compare the same with said standard; and if they, or any two of them, upon such comparison, shall reverse the judgment so appealed from, the inspector whose judgment is so reversed shall put on the cask or casks containing the flour such brand as the said three persons, or any two of them, shall declare to be agreeable to the standard.

347. No person shall condemn any flour barrel or half barrel which can, in his opinion, be repaired at a reasonable expense; and it shall be the duty of the several inspectors, under the
