

dollars, in the discretion of such court martial as the case may require.

711. The said books shall be delivered over to the officer hereby authorized to inspect the same within three days after they are required of his inferior officer; and if any officer shall neglect or refuse to deliver over said books when so required, or if it shall appear from said books, or from any other source, that any officer has neglected to comply with any of the provisions of this law as required of him, he shall be cashiered, or fined not exceeding one hundred dollars.

712. Any officer appointed in said divisions who shall not, within twenty days after the acceptance of the appointment, arm, accoutre and provide himself with the uniform established agreeably to the provisions of this law, if a company or regimental staff officer he shall be fined a sum not exceeding twenty dollars, in the discretion of such court martial as the case may require; and if a general or regimental field officer, or division or brigade staff officer, he shall be fined a sum not exceeding fifty dollars, in the discretion of such court martial as the case may require; and if any officer shall thereafter continue such neglect, he shall be liable to be cashiered at any time, by such court martial as the case may require.

713. The commanding officer of each company shall appoint and dismiss at his pleasure his non-commissioned officers; and if any person so appointed and having accepted said appointment shall neglect or refuse to obey the orders of his superior officers in executing the provisions of this law, he shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten dollars, in the discretion of such court martial as the case may require.

714. If any commissioned officer shall be guilty of any breach of orders, or shall at any division, regimental or company meetings, on any occasion, in the execution of the provisions of this law, or when the division, regiment or company to which he may belong, or in or over which he holds a command, is paraded or on duty as prescribed by this law, or in the by-laws of any company, misbehave, demean himself or appear in an unofficer-like manner, he shall for such offence be cashiered, suspended, reprimanded or fined not exceeding one hundred dollars, in the discretion of such court martial as the case may require; and the proceedings of every court martial in case of cashiering shall be