

money due under said order (which account shall be verified by the affidavit of any such teacher) it shall be the duty of the commissioners for the district to give such teacher an order upon the judges of the Orphans' Court for said judges to pay, out of any money in their hands standing to the credit of the commissioners of said district, and to take and deposit such order, with the voucher of its payment, with the register of wills, to be by him preserved among the other papers relative to this fund in said court; Provided, no poor child residing in a free school district shall be selected as aforesaid.

184. The judges of the Orphans' Court are authorized and required to appoint three commissioners, whenever requested by petition in writing, signed by a majority of the voters of any school district in said county, to alter and change the present school districts, and to form and establish new districts, whenever, in their judgment, the interest and convenience of the people shall require it; and any alteration or change which they shall make or authorize to be made, or any new districts which they may form, shall be set forth in writing, under their hands and seals, and filed with the register of wills of the county; this section not to apply to election districts number three and four.

185. The Orphans' Court shall have full power to change the lines of any school district as they may think proper for bettering the condition of said school district.

186. The commissioners so appointed shall not be taken from the school district applying for such alteration or change, and they shall each receive the sum of one dollar for every day's attendance, to be paid out of the school fund allotted to such district.

187. Upon application, in writing, of ten taxable inhabitants within the limits of any school district lying in election districts numbers one or two, and not previously organized as a poor school district, to the Orphans' Court, it shall be their duty, and they are required, to appoint three suitable persons, residents of the districts applying for the establishment of a primary school therein, to hold an election, and notify said persons so appointed under their hands in any manner most convenient.
