

five years of age, and who has resided in said city two years previous to said election, mayor of said city; and five persons, at least twenty-one years of age, and who have resided in said city one year previous to said election, members of the common council.

98. The mayor shall give at least two weeks' notice of the election, and shall appoint three persons judges of election; and the said judges shall have power to appoint a clerk, who shall keep a record of the persons voting, and the persons voted for; and the persons having the highest number of votes for the several offices of mayor and common council shall be declared duly elected.

99. The judges and clerks of election shall notify the persons elected of their election, and the persons so elected shall severally hold their respective offices from the third Monday of May next ensuing the election, for and during one year, and until their successors shall be duly elected.

100. If notice of such election shall not be given as hereinbefore required, or if the judges of election shall not be appointed, or shall refuse to act, five or more voters of the said city may call an election for said officers by notices set up in the most public places in said city, not less than one week previous to such election, therein naming the time and place of holding such election, and naming three judges thereof, who, or any two of them, may hold such election.

101. If at any election there shall be a tie between any persons voted for the said offices, or if any person elected to either of said offices shall refuse to act, die, resign, be disqualified or remove, a new election shall be held in two weeks after such fact shall have become known, after at least one week's notice given by the mayor or one or more of the common council, or five or more of the voters as directed in the preceding section; and such election shall be held by three judges, or any two of them appointed by the mayor, or one or more of the common council, or five or more of the voters, as the case may be, and the person or persons elected shall serve until a new election.

102. All officers of said city, except the mayor, shall, before they enter upon the duties of their respective offices, make oath before a justice of the peace for Carroll county, that they will
